

HIST-3010-001 (Online): American Revolution and the New Nation
First Summer

This class examines the emergence of the United States of America and its relationship to American societies in the period from 1750 to 1820. The course will pay special attention to two pivotal developments: the American Revolution and the establishment of the New Nation under the Constitution.

