COURSE CONTENT:

Our Summer School focusing on “Renewable Energy” gives you a holistic understanding of heating technologies of the future, decentralized energy systems and shows how we can make the most of renewable energies. Due to the targeted energy transition in Germany, the region of Bavaria and its different industrial sectors undergo significant changes. We scientifically accompany these changes in the region with different projects and solutions. The program combines interesting seminars with lab tours, hands-on simulation workshops and exciting excursions to specialised and well-known companies. In addition, there are various opportunities to experience and immerse yourself in German culture through a diverse cultural and leisure program.

TARGET GROUP:

All students who are interested in the topic are eligible for application.

PROGRAM DETAILS:

Are you keen on getting insights on energy systems of the future from professors and market leaders? Would you like to know how intelligent and sustainable technology and production systems can play an important role in tackling climate change?
