

CLEMSON

INSTITUTE FOR
BIOLOGICAL INTERFACES
OF ENGINEERING

SEMINAR

“Long-label retention and asymmetric division are they related in mammary epithelium?”

By

Dr. Gilbert H. Smith, Ph.D.

Head of the Mammary Stem Cell Biology Section in the Mammary Biology and Tumorigenesis
Laboratory in the Center for Cancer Research, NCI

Co-hosted by the Institute for Biological Interfaces of Engineering and Department of Animal and Veterinary Science

12-Mar-2010 in Poole Agricultural Center Room F149

1: 00 PM

ANIMAL AND VETERINARY SCIENCES

CLEMSON
