Pinocchio 2016

Lucy Rollin Emeritus Professor of English

Friday, February 12, 10:00 a.m. Cheezem Education Center

Walt Disney’s Pinocchio was, and still is, one of the triumphs of American film. Come learn about Disney’s source—a rich and fascinating tale created for both adults and children in late 19th century Italy, which resonates throughout today’s culture in surprising ways. Lucy Rollin, Professor Emerita of English at Clemson University, will lead the discussion.

Today in Clemson

Rick Cotton Clemson City Administrator

Friday, March 11, 10:00 a.m. Cheezem Education Center

Rick Cotton has served as City Administrator for the City of Clemson for 20 years, and will be speaking on planning, capital projects, city management and Clemson’s growth. He is on the Board of Directors for the Clemson Area Chamber of Commerce and serves in leadership positions on several local and regional associations.

Mark your calendars for April 8 when Dr. Rhondda Thompson returns to update The Susan Project: African American Life and Labor at Fort Hill and Clemson University, pre-1963