

Jeremy Kearns

Chemical Engineering, May 2012

Hey guys! My name is Jeremy Kearns, and I'm currently a sophomore in chemical engineering. I eventually plan to go to graduate school of some sort after my time at Clemson. I'm originally from Charleston, SC, but have lived all over the world. I spent three years in both Malaysia and Indonesia, as well as two in Canada. My parents currently live in Lima, OH, where I attended high school. I am a diehard Clemson Tigers fan. I love football and don't think there's anything better than game day in the south. I'm currently vice-president of club tennis as well as a participant in various other intramurals. The Honors College has also given me the opportunity to participate in Dixon Fellows, which I am very fortunate to be a part of. I love being at Clemson and am looking forward to meeting new faces during my time here. If you have any questions or want to get a better idea of what being a Clemson student entails, please don't hesitate to contact me.
