SPECIAL EDUCATION LECTURER
A 10-month non-tenure position in Eugene T. Moore School of Education at Clemson University.

The person who fills this position will serve as liaison between special education faculty and public schools. Working closely with the Field Placement Office, this person will provide oversight and coordination of field placements for special education majors. This individual will also be responsible for coordinating seminars and advancing program goals by working closely with and under the guidance of the faculty in special education.

Minimum qualifications are a master's degree and 3 years of classroom experience. Preference is given to those with a doctorate, expertise in mild disabilities, fluency with evidence-based instructional and behavioral practices (e.g. explicit instruction, progress monitoring, functional behavior assessment), supervisory and administrative experiences, and/or higher education teaching experience. Starting date is August 2016.

Clemson University, located in the beautiful Appalachian Mountain foothills between Charlotte and Atlanta, is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer seeking applicants from diverse social and cultural backgrounds and/or disability status. To apply, send transcripts, letter of application, resume, and 3 letters of reference to: Special Education Lecturer Search Committee, Janet Arnold, 209 Tillman Hall, Clemson University, Clemson, SC 29634-0723. E-mail an electronic version of materials directly to arnold5@clemson.edu, and make inquiries to Dr. Antonis Katsiyannis antonis@clemson.edu. Review of materials will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.