Critical Race Theory

The Course

EDL 9800: Special Topics  Critical Race Theory in Education
Meeting: June 6 – 29, 2017, Tuesdays & Thursdays 5:00 – 8:45 pm
For more info: Dr. Natasha Croom, nncroom@clemson.edu

Introduction to the foundational tenets & resultant constructs of Critical Race Theory (CRT) through the following overarching questions:

▪ What are the epistemological underpinnings of CRT?
▪ How is CRT used to analyze micro and macro-level historical and contemporary constructions of race & enactments of racism in education (and/or your fields') policies & practices and beyond?
▪ How can CRT serve as an analytical tool in making different practice-related decisions in your research/work/life?

Who Can Take This Course?

▪ Senior undergrads, masters, & current and prospective doctoral students across disciplines/programs/fields
▪ Non-degree seeking community members
▪ People wanting to engage in dialogues about race and racism

REGISTER NOW!