

THIS IS FOR STUDENTS ONLY

All students who participate in a study abroad program are required to have insurance coverage through Clemson University or their program provider. Insurance through a program provider must meet the approval of the Office of Risk Management. This includes students on Clemson faculty-directed or college-coordinated programs, exchange students, students studying abroad with external providers and third parties, and direct-enrolled students. It applies to students studying abroad for credit and non-credit.

This insurance is provided by Cultural Insurance Services International (CISI). The insurance policy covers basic medical expenses, medical evacuation, medical reunion, repatriation, and a security evacuation rider. Students can enroll for up to 1 additional month of coverage if planning to extend time abroad. The enrollment must be completed prior to departure and proof of insurance submitted in the online application/registration. Contact abroad@clemson.edu with any questions.
