Course Description

This course provides an introduction to basic principles of research in psychology. You will primarily do psychology in this course, rather than simply read about it. Research is both exciting and exacting. We hope the course will give you an appreciation of both qualities. The course is designed to help you master five major aspects of doing research:

1. Design of experiments
2. Execution of experiments
3. Scientific writing
4. Computer analysis of results
5. Critique of research

The class and lab meetings will be online, synchronous, and will not be recorded. We will use Zoom for our meetings, and so you will need to be connected and ready when the class/lab meeting is scheduled to begin. I will typically send the Zoom link to you via email prior to each meeting.

Dr. Ben Stephens  Psych 3100 - Advanced Experimental Psychology  Spring 2023

Course requirements

Exams. There will be three take-home exams. All contain short answer and application items.

Papers. There will be three short papers (one on each of the three group experiments). You will be learning the American Psychological Association style of scientific reports, which is the standard for journal articles in psychology. The three short papers will focus on different subsections of a journal article, i.e. Methods, Results, Discussion. A final long paper will be a complete write-up of your independent project. An acceptable IRB proposal is prerequisite for an acceptable final paper. Failure to meet prerequisites will result in a grade of zero on the final paper.

Laboratory assignments. Each student must assist in designing and running a portion of the subjects in each experiment. Some of the experiments will be run in the scheduled lab, while the other labs will be scheduled more flexibly (e.g. whenever you can convince a friend to be in the experiment). You must complete your portion of the experiment on schedule, since the entire class will rely on your data.

Homework assignments. Homework will be assigned and graded on a regular basis to motivate you to keep-up with the reading. The 10 pt grading scale ranges from excellent (9-10) to no-response (0).

Participation. We will track and evaluate participation by noting your attention during class, questions and comments during class, and by asking rounds of questions in class. Each student's daily participation will be scored from excellent (9-10) to no-response (0).

Class attendance. As in most classes, new material will be presented in the classroom. Unlike most classes, we often will make decisions jointly about the design of experiments in class. Your contribution is important, so come to class. Unexcused non-responses for assignments will result in a zero. (See Course Rules and Regs.)

Dr. Ben Stephens  Psych 310-Advanced Experimental Psychology  Fall 2018

Grading.

The relative weights of the grade components are as follows:

- Exam I  15%
- Exam II  10%
- Exam III 10%

- Short papers
  - Method  5%
  - Results  5%
  - Discussion  5%

- Long paper  30%

- Participation  15%
- Oral Report  2%
- Homework/Lab  3%

Dr. Ben Stephens  Psych 310-Advanced Experimental Psychology  Fall 2021

Rules and Regs.

This may be one of the more demanding courses in Psychology. The material can be conceptually difficult, and you must produce on a daily basis. Every day or so, something is due in this class. It would be a serious mistake to get behind in the work. Therefore, to motivate you to complete your work on time, the following policies are in effect, consistent with University guidelines.

Missed exams, papers, labs, homework and participation will result in a grade of zero unless the absence is documented and constitutes a University approved absence. (Documentation must be written, e.g. a doctors excuse, notice of jury duty, notification of Covid19-related issues or IT-related issues, etc.) You will need to log in to Zoom with video enabled so everyone can see that you are attentive, and you must unmute when speaking so everyone can hear your comments and questions. You may employ a digital background (if you wish), in Zoom to prevent others from seeing your actual environment. (I use the San Francisco Golden Gate background, for example.)

However, if you are sick, or have other Covid19 or IT issues, and you email by 7:00 a.m. the day of class (11:00 am for lab), you do not need to have documentation in order to have the absence excused (you must still make-up the missed work/assignments/test/etc....except for participation, for which a "make-up" will not be required). This "email" excuse may be used only for illness and Covid19/technical issues, and for a maximum of two times. Subsequent absences will require written documentation.

Homework and lab assignments are docked 2 pts if they are not posted by the specified time, 4 pts if they are not posted before meeting times, and 10 points if they are not posted by midnight on the due date.

Incomplete assignments are graded with a zero weight associated with the missing portions of the assignment.

Laptops are required for each class, and may be used only for remote viewing of class and discussion, note-taking and other assigned tasks. Browsing, checking email or texts, or other distracting use of laptops or mobile devices is not permitted during class or lab. Violations of this rule will lower participation grades.

Grading System:
Clemson University’s grading system is described in the 2016-2017 Undergraduate Announcements, p. 25-27. Grades of A, B, C, D, F, I, P, NP and W may be given in accordance with academic regulations. For more information on this grading system, please see the Registrar’s web site at http://www.registrar.clemson.edu/html/finalGrades.htm.

Academic Integrity:
The following is the official statement on academic integrity. Please consider placing this statement in your syllabus, or at a minimum, please reference in the Undergraduate Announcements and call your students’ attention to it.

“As members of the Clemson University community, we have inherited Thomas Green Clemson’s vision of this institution as a “high seminary of learning.” Fundamental to this vision is a mutual commitment to truthfulness, honor, and responsibility, without which we cannot earn the trust and respect of others. Furthermore, we recognize that academic dishonesty detracts from the value of a Clemson degree. Therefore, we shall not tolerate lying, cheating, or stealing in any form.”

When, in the opinion of a course instructor, there is evidence that a student has committed an act of academic dishonesty, the instructor must make a formal written charge of academic dishonesty, including a description of the misconduct to Dr. Jeff Appling, Associate Dean of Undergraduate Studies. The reporting instructor may, at his/her discretion, inform each involved student privately of the nature of the alleged charge. In cases of plagiarism (I.B.2.) instructors may use the Plagiarism Resolution Form available from the Office of Undergraduate Studies. Instructors using this form for the first time must consult with Dr. Appling (656-3022) prior to meeting with the student.

Instructors suspecting a violation of the academic integrity policy should not assign a grade penalty until the process is complete. For suspected academic dishonesty outside the course setting, please consult with the Associate Dean of Undergraduate Studies.

Instructors should include a class policy on submission of work that has been turned in for credit for a previous course.

Please call 656-3022 with any questions about academic integrity.

Class Rolls:
Students can use iROAR to add courses through August 23, to drop courses without record through August 30, and to drop with a W grade through October 21.

Students that have not attended class by the second week, after the last day to add a class (August 23), should be removed from the roll using the enrollment correction form: http://www.registrar.clemson.edu/html/facultyForms.htm

The Clemson University Title IX (Sexual Harassment) statement must be included: Clemson University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, pregnancy, national origin, age, disability, veteran’s status, genetic information or protected activity in employment, educational programs and activities, admissions and financial aid. This includes a prohibition against sexual harassment and sexual violence as mandated by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972. This policy is located at http://www.clemson.edu/campus-life/campus-services/access/title-ix/. Mr. Jerry Knighton is the Clemson University Title IX Coordinator. He also is the Director of Access and Equity. His office is located at 110 Holtzendorff Hall, 864.656.3184 (voice) or 864.656.0899 (TDD).

Attendance Policy:
The academic resources of Clemson University are provided for the intellectual growth and development of students. Class attendance is critical to the educational process; therefore, students should attend scheduled courses regularly if they are to attain their academic goals.

In the event of an emergency, the student should make direct contact with the course instructor, preferably before a class or an exam takes place. Students should speak with their course instructors regarding any scheduled absence as soon as possible and develop a plan for any make-up work. It is the student’s responsibility to secure documentation of emergencies, if required. A student with an excessive number of absences may be withdrawn at the discretion of the course instructor.

Course instructors must implement fair grading procedures and provide an opportunity to make up missed assignments and examinations that does not unfairly penalize the student when an excused absence is accepted. Such make-up work shall be at the same level of difficulty with the missed assignment or examination. Course instructors shall hold all students with excused absences to the same standard for making up missed assignments and examinations. While course instructors should seek to make reasonable accommodations for a student involved in University-sponsored activities, students should understand that not every course can accommodate absences and that absences do not lessen the need to meet all course objectives.

Absence from class is detrimental to the learning process, so course instructors may use reasonable academic penalties which reflect the importance of work missed because of unexcused absences. Course instructors who penalize students for unexcused absences must specify attendance requirements as related to grading in the course syllabus and must keep accurate attendance records. Course instructors are obligated to honor exceptions to the university attendance policy for students covered by the Americans with Disabilities Act, as verified through paperwork issued by Student Accessibility Services.

Notification of Absence:
The Notification of Absence module in Blackboard (http://bb.clemson.edu) allows students to quickly notify instructors (via an email) of an absence from class and provides for the following categories: court attendance, death of family member, illness, illness of family member, injury, military duty, religious observance, scheduled surgery, university function, unscheduled hospitalization, other anticipated absence, or other unanticipated absence. The notification form requires a brief explanation, dates and times. Based on the dates and times indicated, instructors are automatically selected, but students may decide which instructors will receive the notification. This does not serve as an “excuse” from class, and students are encouraged to discuss the absence with their instructors, as the instructor is the only person who can excuse an absence. If a student is unable to report the absence by computer, he/she may call the Dean of Students Office for assistance.

Faculty members should feel free to call the Dean of Students for help in considering the validity and sufficiency of the documentation provided by students. The Dean of Students Office also assists students in identifying appropriate methods of documenting absences and assists families in using the electronic Notification of Absence system when students are unable to do so themselves.

Grading:
It is very important for the success of our students that exams and other forms of graded work be evaluated and returned in a timely manner.

Mid-term Grades:
No later than five days before the last day students can drop courses without receiving final grades (October 21), instructors of every undergraduate course shall make available for each student (a) the student’s numerical course grade or (b) that student’s letter ranking to date in that course (A-F or P/NP). More frequent feedback is strongly encouraged.

Both student and instructor are to recognize that this feedback reflects the student’s performance up to that point in time, and as such, that student’s final course grade may change based upon subsequent coursework performance(s).

Last Week of Classes:
No examinations, other than laboratory examinations, are permitted on the last two days classes (December 1st & 2nd)

Final Examinations
At their own discretion, instructors may excuse from the final examination, all students having the grade A on the coursework prior to the final examination. For all other students, examinations are required in all subjects at the end of each semester, except in courses in which final examinations are not deemed necessary as approved by the department faculty.

Final examinations must be given (or due) on the dates and at the times designated in the final examination schedule, except in laboratory and one-credit-hour courses where the final exam will be given at the last class meeting. All courses that do not specify a standard day of the week and meeting time are not assigned a final exam date and time, and the final exam must be given during the examination week at a date and time announced by the instructor. This time must be stipulated in the syllabus at the beginning of the term.

Circumventing the designated date/time for a final examination via consenting signatures from students for a different date/time, though freely agreed to, is a violation of the final examination policy.

Posting of Grades
The United States Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) prohibits the public distribution of grades or graded work. This is commonly understood to include posting grades by student names, initials, or student number. It is also understood to include placing of graded material in a public place where students go through the material to find their own graded work.

Faculty use iROAR to submit grades at the end of each academic term. Follow the steps below. (Note: Grades recorded in Blackboard are outside the official grade collection system.)

Emergency Procedures
Emergency procedures have been posted in all buildings and on all elevators. Students should be reminded to review these procedures for their own safety.

Copyright Statement
Materials in some of the courses are copyrighted. They are intended for use only by students registered and enrolled in a particular course and only for instructional activities associated with and for the duration of the course. They may not be retained in another medium or disseminated further. They are provided in compliance with the provisions of the Teach Act. Students should be reminded to refer to the Use of Copyrighted Materials and “Fair Use Guidelines” policy on the Clemson University website for additional information: http://www.clemson.edu/library/

STANDARD ACADEMIC POLICIES

For standard academic policy language and up-to-date student resources, see the University Policy and Student Support Syllabus Part 2. These four policies, however, are required:

Academic Integrity
As members of the Clemson University community, we have inherited Thomas Green Clemson's vision of this institution as a "high seminary of learning." Fundamental to this vision is a mutual commitment to truthfulness, honor, and responsibility, without which we cannot earn the trust and respect of others. Furthermore, we recognize that academic dishonesty detracts from the value of a Clemson degree. Therefore, we shall not tolerate lying, cheating, or stealing in any form.

All infractions of academic dishonesty by undergraduates must be reported to Undergraduate Studies for resolution through that office. In cases of plagiarism instructors may use the Plagiarism Resolution Form.

See the Undergraduate Academic Integrity Policy website for additional information and the current catalogue for the policy. For graduate students, see the current Graduate School Handbook for all policies and procedures.

Accessibility
Clemson University values the diversity of our student body as a strength and a critical component of our dynamic community. Students with disabilities or temporary injuries/conditions may require accommodations due to barriers in the structure of facilities, course design, technology used for curricular purposes, or other campus resources. Students who experience a barrier to full access to this class should let the instructor know and make an appointment to meet with a staff member in Student Accessibility Services as soon as possible.

You can make an appointment by calling 864-656-6848, by emailing studentaccess@lists.clemson.edu, or by visiting Suite 239 in the Academic Success Center building. Appointments are strongly encouraged – drop-ins will be seen, if at all possible, but there could be a significant wait due to scheduled appointments. Students who have accommodations are strongly encouraged to request, obtain and send these to their instructors through the AIM portal as early in the semester as possible so that accommodations can be made in a timely manner. It is the student’s responsibility to follow this process each semester.

You can access further information at the Student Accessibility website. Other information is at the university’s Accessibility Portal.

The Clemson University Title IX Statement Regarding Non-Discrimination

The Clemson University Title IX statement: Clemson University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, pregnancy, national origin, age, disability, veteran’s status, genetic information or protected activity in employment, educational programs and activities, admissions and financial aid. This includes a prohibition against sexual harassment and sexual violence as mandated by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972. This Title IX policy is located on the Campus Life website. Ms. Alesia Smith is the Clemson University Title IX Coordinator, and the Executive Director of Equity Compliance. Her office is located at 223 Brackett Hall, 864-656-0620. Remember, email is not a fully secured method of communication and should not be used to discuss Title IX issues.

Clemson University aspires to create a diverse community that welcomes people of different races, cultures, ages, genders, sexual orientation, religions, socioeconomic levels, political perspectives, abilities, opinions, values and experiences.

Emergency Preparation

Emergency procedures have been posted in all buildings and on all elevators. Students should be reminded to review these procedures for their own safety. All students and employees should be familiar with guidelines from the Clemson University Police Department. Visit here for information about safety.

Clemson University is committed to providing a safe campus environment for students, faculty, staff, and visitors. As members of the community, we encourage you to take the following actions to be better prepared in case of an emergency:

1. Ensure you are signed up for emergency alerts
2. Download the Rave Guardian app to your phone (https://www.clemson.edu/cusafety/cupd/rave-guardian/)
3. Learn what you can do to prepare yourself in the event of an active threat (http://www.clemson.edu/cusafety/EmergencyManagement/)

Portfolio: Demonstration of Distributed Competencies

See http://www.clemson.edu/academics/programs/eportfolio/competency/

This course helps you to meet some requirements for your distributed competencies, so you should be putting documents that satisfy these competencies in your general education portfolio. Please put the following documents in the following sections of your portfolio:

Ethical Judgment
-- Your IRB proposal with a rational statement explaining how your project exemplifies ethical judgement.

Reasoning, Critical Thinking, and Problem-Solving
-- Your research proposal and final research paper with a rational explaining how your project exemplifies critical thinking.
