

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY

PAM HENDRIX CENTER

FOR EDUCATION ABROAD

THIS IS FOR STUDENTS ONLY

All students who participate in a study abroad program are required to have insurance coverage through Clemson University or their program provider. Insurance through a program provider must meet the approval of the Office of Risk Services & Insurance. This includes students on Clemson faculty-directed or college-coordinated programs, exchange students, students studying abroad with external providers and third parties, and direct-enrolled students. It applies to students studying abroad for credit and non-credit.

This insurance is provided by Cultural Insurance Services International (CISI). The insurance policy covers basic medical expenses, medical evacuation, medical reunion, repatriation, and a security evacuation rider. Students can enroll for up to one additional month of coverage if planning to extend time their time abroad. The enrollment must be completed prior to departure and proof of insurance submitted in the online application/registration. Contact abroad@clemson.edu with any questions.
