The curriculum requirements are very flexible for both BS and BA in Economics majors. This makes study abroad a great option for students earning their bachelor’s degree in economics. Many students take mix a of courses that work with their major and minor requirements. Study abroad is also a great opportunity to fulfill your general education credits. Be sure to meet with your academic advisor to discuss course transfer equivalency and your degree progress.

Some of the courses that fulfill degree requirements while studying abroad:

Pre-business courses required for ECON BS, can be used by ECON BA toward a minor in business administration
MGT 2010, MKT 3010, FIN 3060

BA majors only (through 2020 level)
Modern language requirement

Economics Major requirements (18 credit hours) selected from courses ranging ECON 3160 and higher
ECON 3160 – ECON 4980

Econ majors have elective hours (24 credits for BS), (38 credits for BA) built into their degree program, any of which can be completed through study abroad
Electives

Econ majors are required to have a minor, depending on the minor, this may be completed during a study abroad program (15 credits)
Minor requirements
