Alpha Sigma Phi was founded at Yale University, making it one of the oldest Greek-letter fraternities in the United States.

Our 90-man brotherhood is involved on campus through philanthropy events, social events, and various student organizations.

Our Chapter, the Epsilon Upsilon chapter, was locally founded.

CHAPTER HISTORY
Alpha Sigma Phi’s Deck the Halls
• Each year, our chapter organizes this event which brings fraternities and sororities together in a holiday decoration competition to raise money for the charity of the winning team’s choice.

March Madness Fundraiser in honor of Judy Lund
• Our chapter hosts a March Madness bracket challenge every March to raise money for pancreatic cancer research in honor of a family member of one of our brothers.

In addition to several philanthropy events that we participate in, our members complete community service on an individual level through organizations such as Clemson LIFE, Habitat for Humanity, and the Salvation Army.
