MINUTES

CCC Business

• Vote to receive Marketing Chair
  o Rachel Edwards was elected. She will be joining the CCC Leadership Team at the monthly meetings.

• Report from Alcohol and Other Drugs Executive Leadership Team (Crystal Fulmer)
  o The AOD ELT acts as a steering committee for the CCC, and the CCC provides input to the AOD ELT. This committee consists of SA administrators, officials from CUPD, and staff from Healthy Campus.
  o The office of Fraternity and Sorority Life from Clemson was present at the last meeting. Crystal noted that they are bringing numerous speakers to campus on topics such as alcohol and other drugs, bystander intervention and hazing prevention.
    • Challenges include: large events that are co-sponsored by 2 or 3 chapters; pre-gaming before events; major parties at houses in the downtown area.
  o Clemson’s potential contract with Uber’s Safe Rides program is still under review. A pilot has not yet begun.

• Fall Crawl Initiatives – Saturday, October 21st
  o Dale said it’s probably not feasible for bars to give away free food. But he noted that many bars will advertise “food specials” or a promotion.
  o CU Water drop will be dropping off water on Friday to all the willing bars downtown.
    • It was also suggested to hand out water on the CAT buses. Additionally, people could walk around and hand out water downtown.
  o Certain bars and restaurant offer free soda/apps to designated drivers. Dale noted that not many people take advantage of this opportunity; many students live downtown and walk, take the bus, or have a friend pick them up.
  o Chana noted that they have been catching several fake IDs downtown.
  o Healthy Campus has worked to collaborate with the Barnes Center to promote their Jeopardy event that night.
    • For the spring semester, we should let the program director in the Barnes Center know well in advanced about Ain’t Pattys day in hopes to collaborate on a larger event during that weekend.
  o Mary Erin asked if we could let Leasa Evinger know the date of Fall Crawl. Perhaps in some of the upper-class housing communities they can promote alternative events and be aware for on-call purposes.
  o A potential “bus monitor” program was suggested for volunteers to stand on the buses during busy hours and to be trained in bystander intervention skills. We could brainstorm student groups that would be interested in volunteering.
  o General ideas for social media messaging for Fall Crawl included: (it’s always if you choose to participate)

- Don’t pre-game
- Watch your drink being poured and keep it with you
- Eat throughout the day
- Drink water – stay hydrated
- Stay with the same group of friends you started with
- Step up and intervene if you see something

Clemson University

- Celebrate Safely marketing campaign - Alcohol Safety and bystander intervention
  - The Healthy Campus Staff will be putting up the second phase of flyers downtown in the bars and restaurants. Flyers were also passed around during the meeting and members were asked to share them where they work.

- Clemson University Fire and Safety Report (2017) – attached
  - CUPD released the 2017 report. Attached is a truncated version with some of the AOD and Sexual violence statistics. Additionally, these are just raw numbers, rather than a percentage of the student body.
    - Liquor law arrests have decreased.
    - Liquor law violations are relatively constant.
    - Drug law arrests have fluctuated.
    - Drug law violations are decreasing.
  - This report supports the fact that the CCC along with Clemson University campus partners should continue efforts to reduce high-risk behaviors and continue intervention and prevention efforts surround alcohol and other drugs.

- Departments’ reports on efforts, successes and needs
  - Aspire, Clemson University Healthy Campus (Chloe Greene)
    - Aspire Facilitator applications for the 2018-2019 year are open until October 29th. Encourage students to apply via Clemson Job Link. Contact: Chloe Greene (ccgreen@clemson.edu).

City & Community

- The coalition discussed how to publicize that downtown is more than just Clemson people now, especially after national football attention. Chana talked to Chief Brothers, and Chief Brothers is going to speak with Chief Dixon and Johnson Link about a safety message like this.

- Clemson Football Report
  - Mary Erin reported that the Auburn game was extremely busy.
  - Tate noted that the city police are geared up for the Wake Forest game with extra manpower and extra security on Bowman Field and for Tigerama. It’s a 12 o’clock kickoff so they don’t anticipate many problems.

- Crystal will be speaking with the Clemson Rotary Club and share about the work of the CCC and the AOD ELT.

- Crystal gave an update on the Nextdoor neighbor app, and she will be reaching out to Crossie to see if she can post on behalf of the CCC.
  - Candice can help as well.

- Tate met with Dave Walthius (Clemson IFC) and one of the fraternities with a house downtown to discuss challenges they have been having regarding hosting parties.
  - Properly licensed security personnel must now be present if an event will be over a certain number of people. They can hire “outside” security, but they must make sure that they are properly licensed, bonded and insured in the state of SC. People need to be diligent when hiring outside security.
  - There have been some issues with rental properties. Tate noted that if you get four violations on the same property, the property owner could have the ability to rent taken away.
