

JOB SEARCHING

DURING COVID-19

Job searching during this time is going to require you to be more proactive. We have put together some tips to help you navigate the process during this time! Many companies are still hiring, so keep applying!

Career Center's Virtual Offerings

The career center is offering our career counseling services virtually in addition to virtual workshops. See below for how to schedule an appointment or RSVP for virtual workshops.

Update your LinkedIn

Recruiters will be looking online for candidates now more than ever. Make sure your profile is up to date and portrays the types of jobs you are looking for.

ClemsonJobLink

Employers are still posting part-time, internships, and full-time positions on our job board. Check back a few times a week to apply for new positions.

Company Information

This website provides up to date information on who is hiring and who has put hiring on hold:

Attend Virtual Career Fairs

Have your resume ready and dress like you are going to an in-person fair as you will be connecting with employers.

Practice Virtual Interviews

Set-up a virtual mock interview with a counselor or record yourself answering questions using the Mock Interview portal on ClemsonJobLink.

Have a career question? We are happy to assist you through a virtual appointment.

Please send a detailed email to cucareercenter@gmail.com.

Our appointments are offered M-F, 10am – 12pm and 1:30pm – 4pm.

We will still be offering career services such as, mock interviews, career counseling, resume/professional document critiques, job searching help, etc., just virtually!
