POST-MS DOCTOR OF NURSING PRACTICE

OVERVIEW

The Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) program is a post-master’s program for nationally certified nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialists. All of the DNP courses are online with a two-day immersion experience for orientation. There is also a two-day immersion experience at the end of years one and two of the program focusing on the students’ DNP Project. This project takes the place of a traditional doctoral thesis, and students must identify, study and develop an improved or new model of care in any health topic they choose.

KEY DATES

- New cohorts begin each May with an application submission deadline of January 15 through the Graduate School at Clemson University.
- Orientation for new DNP students as well as a Translational Research Symposium for all DNP students will be held on campus each Spring semester.

APPLICATION HIGHLIGHTS

- Online application
- Résumé
- Personal statement
- Three letters of recommendation
- Master’s GPA of 3.25 or higher
- Active APRN license
- Transcripts
- Background check
- Graduate course in statistics
- TOEFL score (may be required by applicants for whom English is not the first language)

Apply on the Clemson Graduate School website.

More information: www.clemson.edu/nursing

Questions? Contact Ellen Chiles at achiles@clemson.edu | 864-720-2052

The School of Nursing is a part of the College of Behavioral, Social and Health Sciences, which has a focus on building people and communities.