Dear High School Advisors,

On behalf of Clemson International Relations Association, I would like to cordially invite you to the 2017 Model United Nations Conference, to be held October 20 – 22, 2017. The Clemson University Model United Nations Conference (CUMUNC) will introduce your students to exciting oral debate and an understanding of international relations.

The theme of our conference is “Global Sustainability” in honor of the United Nations’ Sustainable Development Goals. In today’s society, this is an important topic for a new generation of diplomats to discuss. Though environmental sustainability is indispensable for future generations, our conference will broaden delegates’ minds to the idea of Global Sustainability. Our theme is applicable to the environment, development, international relations, culture, and much more.

At this conference, your delegates will focus on developing sustainable solutions for issues in each committee. By keeping this theme at the forefront of every resolution, your delegates can provide a better future for the world. In order to better understand the scope of your impact, consider this Native American proverb: “We do not inherit the earth from our ancestors, but we borrow it from our children.”

Global sustainability is applicable to all four of our committees. At this conference, delegates can be a part of the General Assembly, The United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), The United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), and the Social Cultural and Humanitarian Committee (SOCHUM). These committees are simulations through which your delegates will grow and improve their knowledge about international relations.

If you are interested in our conference, please email me back at cumuncinfo@gmail.com to let me know how many delegates and advisors you expect to bring. Then I can send you the registration forms so we can get started. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out to myself or our Model UN Advisor, Xiaobo Hu, at xhu@clemson.edu.

Thank you for your interest! We can’t wait to CU in October!

Best regards,
Callahan Moore, Secretary-General
