LSAT Prep Course

An LSAT prep class will be offered by the Political Science Department during September/October 2019 to help students prepare for the October 2019 and later LSAT exams. The course is taught by Prof. William Lasser, and is open to students and alumni of Clemson University.

The cost of the course is $150 for juniors and seniors in the Departments of Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, Anthropology and Criminal Justice ($275 for all others). Full payment is due by Monday, September 16, 2019. Please note: this course will be taught only if there is sufficient demand; if the course is not offered, students will receive a full refund.

The LSAT prep course is designed to provide students with basic information about the test; study skills; approaches to the various question-types on the exam; and hints about specific exam issues. The course works best in conjunction with the students’ own intensive self-study in the month before the exam. Students do not receive academic credit for this course, and study materials are not provided.

The class will meet on the following dates and times in 213 Brackett Hall:

Monday, September 16, 2019, 6:30-8:30pm,
Monday, September 23, 2019, 6:30-8:30pm
Wednesday, October 2, 2019, 6:30-8:30pm
Monday, October 7, 2019, 6:30-8:30pm

If there is a class prior to the LSAT course, please do not enter the room until the previous class has been completed.
