Email
If you are a new student your Clemson email (userid@clemson.edu) has automatically been forwarded to your Google Apps for Education account. If you would like to use webmail or another email service instead, you can change your forwarding settings at http://www.clemson.edu/email_forwarding.
Google Apps for Education

What is Google Apps for Education?
Your official Clemson email address is userid@clemson.edu. However, most Clemson students use their Google Apps for Education accounts. When we created your UserID, we also created an identical Google Apps for Education account for you and automatically forwarded your email to it.
How do I log in for the first time and what is my initial password?
Visit http://g.clemson.edu. Your userid will be the same as your Clemson UserID. This account has its own password separate from the one associated with your Clemson UserID. The initial password will be "cu##" followed by the last four numbers of your social security number (i.e. cu##1234).

How do I log in to my Google Apps for Education account?
Go to http://g.clemson.edu to access your Google Apps for Education email account.

What if I forgot my password or my default password isn't working?
Log in to the Email Control Panel with your university username and password. Click "Reset my Google Apps password" and follow all of the instructions on the next screen.

How do I change my Google Apps for Education password?
Your Google Apps for Education password should NOT be identical to your Clemson password. This is because the Google Apps account is hosted by Google, not Clemson University. Password changes on Google will not change your password on the Clemson network and vice versa. You can change your password within your account settings. Resetting your Google Apps password will NOT change your Clemson UserID password. For detailed instructions, please see Google's password reset walkthrough.

Blackboard
Course materials are posted on Blackboard. To access blackboard, go to http://bb.clemson.edu and log in with your Clemson user id and password.
