WORLD DESIGN STUDIO 2019

Dr. Ayman Ashour
Dean of the College of Engineering/Architecture at AIN Shams University, Cairo Egypt.
CEO of Archplan.

Prof. GAO Chi
Party Secretary of Huazhong Agricultural University.
Vice President of the Chinese Society of Landscape Architecture.

Prof. Kate Schwennsen
Director of the School of Architecture at Clemson University.
Past-President of the American Institute of Architects.

Panel Moderators:
Dr. Hala Nassar
Landscape Architecture
Clemson University

Professor Robert Hewitt
Landscape Architecture
Clemson University

Since 2006, Clemson University Landscape Architecture faculty and students have been collaborating with international counterparts in parallel, cross-cultural, design studios focusing on community engagement and design for important heritage and development sites in the world.

This studio, envisioned as the World Design Studio, includes students from four continents—Africa, North America, Asia and Europe—and is open to students worldwide. It is the first studio of its kind employing the knowledge and expertise of four universities in developing student skills in Architecture and Landscape Architecture.

The panelists, through shared discourse, identify and communicate best practices for design studio teaching and learning that address contemporary rapidly changing urban environments in global context.

SYMPOSIIUM

Monday, February 18, 2019
Auditorium, 111 Lee Hall 2
4:00 pm - 5:30 pm