CUSTOMIZED TRAINING PROGRAMS

In order to address the unique needs of your company, the Sonoco Institute will work with you to develop custom training programs. Content from many of our existing courses can be tailored to meet your training objectives. This includes printing fundamentals, color theory, color management, flexographic principles, pressroom best practices, process control, prepress, platemaking, troubleshooting and automated workflows.

Custom programs can be conducted on-site at your location, on campus at Clemson University, or a combination of the two.
