

Introducing

Daniel G. Malenke

Native of Austin, Minnesota

Dan Malenke is an accomplished practitioner, solutions provider, and author/educator with extensive coast-to-coast and international experience in developing and directing technology-rich seminars for the printing and packaging industries. He holds degrees in Printing Education from the University of Wisconsin-Stout and a doctorate in Industrial Training and Development from the University of Minnesota.

Dan is President of PKGPRO, LLC in Wildwood, Florida, providing technical and business services for raw material suppliers, brand owners, packaging converters, and retailers. Previously, he worked as a marketing manager in four locations for Mead/MWV (now WestRock) and served nine years on faculty at the University of Wisconsin-Stout.

Dan enjoys the relentless pursuit of packaging excellence, musical pursuits, and fearless renovations. He and his wife, Julia, have raised two daughters and are proud participants in the lives of four grand children and one on the way!

334.703.2114
pkgpro@hotmail.com
pkgpro4u.com
linkedin.com/in/danmalenke
facebook.com/pkgpro