Introduction

This manual provides information about field experiences in the clinical mental health counseling program at Clemson University. The first field experience, practicum, is designed to help students develop requisite counseling skills and direct knowledge of mental health agencies and services. The second field experience, internship, provides students with additional experience and opportunities to develop counseling skills relevant to clinical mental health counseling. This handbook provides an overview of these field experiences, including terminology, requirements, and examples of documentation. Many of the forms and other information are available in the clinical mental health workgroup in Canvas.

Many of the practicum and internship requirements are dictated by accrediting bodies or state initiatives. For example, a large number of the assignments are directly connected to CACREP accreditation requirements. Our goal is to align our field experience requirements with the best practice recommendations and to ensure that you gain exposure to experiences that the counseling profession deems important.

Commitment to Diversity: The College of Education is committed to providing all candidates with purposeful, challenging, and diverse experiences. It is through a range of diverse, carefully constructed, and challenging classroom-based instruction and field-based experiences that candidates will recognize the inherent dignity and value of all individuals, promote equity in education, and advocate on behalf of children, families, and communities.

Throughout the field experiences, students are expected to adhere to the American Counseling Association Code of Ethics:
http://www.counseling.org/docs/default-source/ethics/2014-aca-code-of-ethics.pdf?sfvrsn=fde89426_5 and our program-defined professional expectations outlined in the Professional Fitness Review in the Counselor Education Graduate Programs Handbook. Students also may find useful information on the American Counseling Association (ACA) website: www.counseling.org.
Terminology

Advisor:
Clinical Mental Health program faculty member who is your assigned academic advisor throughout the program.

Direct Client Contact:
Time spent in direct interaction with clients. Direct contact hours include individual counseling, group counseling, intake assessments, and consultation.

Field Experience Coordinator:
The Clemson University faculty member who provides information to sites and students related to placement and nature of field experience, and approves sites.

Group Supervision:
The time spent in the assigned section of the practicum or internship course with peers, reviewing tapes and discussing issues that occur at practicum or internship sites. Group supervision must average one and a half hours per week throughout the semester.

Indirect Client Contact:
Time spent in field-related activities that do not involve direct interaction with clients. Examples of indirect contact hours include observation, site supervision, administering tests, attending staffing meetings, etc. University supervision hours do NOT count toward practicum or internship total hours.

Individual Supervision:
A supervision session in which one supervisor meets with one supervisee.

Site:
This is the physical location (i.e. agency) where you complete your field experience.

Site Supervisor:
This is the counselor at the practicum or internship site who provides individual supervision and oversees your work. Site Supervisors are required to have a minimum of two years of counseling experience, possess a minimum of a master’s degree, and possess relevant licensure or certification (i.e. LPC, LISW, Licensed psychologist, CAC).

Triadic Supervision:
Supervision provided by the University Supervisor in which the supervisor meets with two supervisees at the same time.

University Supervisor:
The faculty member who is the instructor for the practicum or internship course and who provides individual/triadic and/or group supervision.
Practicum Overview

The practicum in clinical mental health counseling is the first formal field experience. The purpose of practicum is to gain practical knowledge of the clinical setting and the role of the mental health counselor as well as to begin to develop skills in individual counseling. The practicum requires students to complete a minimum of 100 hours over the course of one semester in an agency under the supervision of a counselor. This requirement equates to approximately one day a week, or two half-days a week, for an entire semester. However, in order to account for unforeseen scheduling issues, it is best to schedule approximately 10 hours a week at your site. Students must be at their sites throughout the course of an entire semester. Of the total 100 hours, students must accumulate at least 40 from direct client contact. This course is graded on a pass/fail scale, and specific course requirements are outlined in the EDC 8360 syllabus.

During the practicum, students receive supervision from a University Supervisor and a Site Supervisor. Students must engage in a minimum of one hour per week supervision with their site supervisor. Also, weekly interaction that averages one hour per week of individual and/or triadic supervision throughout the practicum by a program faculty member, a student supervisor, or a site supervisor who is working in consultation on a regular schedule with a program faculty member in accordance with the supervision agreement.

The roles of the student, Site Supervisor, and University Supervisor are clearly articulated in the Practicum/Internship Contract (see Appendix A). In collaboration with their supervisors, students must map out a plan for how they will spend their time at the site and indicate specifically the types of activities in which they will engage.

Students will be introduced to their advocacy project requirement during practicum, which will be a part of the written final examination in the program. Details of the advocacy project will be covered in practicum class and can be found in Canvas.

Internship Overview

The internship is the second formal field experience in clinical mental health counseling. The purpose of internship is to further develop skills in individual and group counseling, as well as assessment and consultation. Internship involves students completing 600 hours in an agency over the course of two semesters; students must register for two separate six-credit classes of EDC 8460 during back-to-back semesters. During each six-credit class, students are required to accumulate a minimum of 300 hours at their sites, with a minimum of 120 direct client contact hours per semester (240 direct contact hours total across both semesters).

The required 300 internship hours equates to approximately two and a half days a week, or five half-days a week, for an entire semester. Students must be at their sites consistently throughout the course of an entire semester. It is very challenging for students to be employed full-time in a daytime job during internship and successfully complete their internship requirements (See FAQ on p. 12). This course is graded on a pass/fail scale, and specific course requirements are outlined in the EDC 8460 syllabus.

During the internship, students receive supervision from a University Supervisor and a Site Supervisor. Students must engage in an average of one and a half hours per week of group supervision throughout the semester with the University Supervisor. Additionally, students must meet with the Site Supervisor for at least one hour per week during internship for individual or triadic supervision.

The roles of the student, Site Supervisor, and University Supervisor are clearly articulated in the Practicum/Internship Contract (see Appendix A). In collaboration with their supervisors, students must map out a plan for how they will spend their time at the site and indicate specifically the types of activities in which they will engage.

Identifying Possible Practicum and Internship Sites

An appropriate clinical mental health counseling practicum or internship site is one where the student can become familiar with a variety of professional activities including direct service work. It also allows students to obtain audio or video recordings of their interactions with clients and provides the opportunity for them to gain supervised experience in the use of a variety of professional resources such as assessment instruments, technology, professional literature and research.

Clinical mental health counseling students are responsible for securing their own practicum and internship placements. Databases of frequently used sites as well as site evaluations are available in the clinical mental health counseling program workgroup in Canvas. It is highly recommended that students discuss site options with their advisors early in the program. These discussions will assist students in clarifying their professional interests and seeking out appropriate sites for practicum and internship. There are a variety of mental health agencies in the area, and discussing preferences for types of populations and/or mental health issues will help in narrowing down desired practicum and internship sites.

Not every site will be approved. Site Supervisors must possess a minimum of a master’s degree, two years of experience, and relevant licensure or certification (i.e., LPC, LISW, LMFT, licensed psychologist, CAC). Additionally, CACREP standards require that all site supervisors have training in supervision and knowledge of our program requirements. Clemson University conducts this training to ensure all field experience supervisors are officially equipped to work with our students. The faculty will review information about the site and supervisor (see Appendix B) before approving each site – see next section for more details. Additionally, the field placement coordinator in the Office of Field and Clinical Partnerships and Outreach (OFCPO) may need to do a site visit if your site has not been used in the past. Please email Dr. Jennifer Hall (jgh3@clemson.edu) if you are wanting to be placed at a brand-new site so that a visit can be scheduled.
Securing Practicum and Internship Sites

It is important that students start searching for sites early so that placements can be finalized by the deadlines (see Practicum and Internship Pre-Enrollment Tasks on page 10). The process of securing a site can move slowly sometimes. Each site has a different process for finalizing a placement, and when we are aware of their approach, we have included instructions in the site database in Canvas. At minimum, students are expected to contact and visit possible sites, meet with relevant personnel, and share the Practicum/Internship FAQ sheets (see Appendices C and D) to ensure they know what is required of you and them. Some sites require students to submit formal applications, some conduct interviews, and some do a combination of both.

Once both the student and the site feel good about the match, students also must have the potential Site Supervisor complete and sign the Site Supervisor Information Form (see Appendix B). An electronic version of this form can be found in the Canvas workgroup and is titled Site Supervisor Information Sheet REV. All students must submit this form to the portal (Site Supervisor Information Sheet SUBMISSION) and complete the Site Supervisor Information REQUEST survey in the Canvas workgroup by the required deadline (see Practicum and Internship Pre-Enrollment Tasks on page 10). The OFCPO will review this information in order to determine whether or not to approve each site. The OFCPO will forward any forms that may need additional review to the Program Faculty. Students will be notified of approval within two weeks of submission of the forms. This completes the process of securing a site.

Preparing for Practicum and Internship

Students’ experiences in practicum and internship will vary as a result of external factors (e.g., agency, population, Site Supervisor) and internal factors (e.g., student personality, confidence, experience). We do our best to monitor the experiences that students have and to screen out places where they have not had good experiences. A site that did not work out well for one student might be a very good match for someone else though. Site Supervisors vary quite a bit in how they approach their roles; some keep you close, observe you frequently, encourage lots of questions, and appreciate your insights about their work, while others are more likely to turn you loose and encourage you to be very independent. We cannot always predict whether or not your personality and that of your Site Supervisor will mesh.

We find that even in situations where the match is not perfect, students who approach the experience with a positive attitude and who convey to their University Supervisor any concerns they have in an effort to alleviate them quickly are likely to learn quite a bit from their experiences. Doing your homework in advance in relation to selecting your preferred sites can help ensure a better match. We strongly encourage you to discuss with your advisor the characteristics you hope to find in a site. Chatting with your peers who have already participated in one or more field experiences also can be helpful in identifying some of the strengths and weaknesses of the site and supervisor.
Similarly, students are encouraged to approach each semester of field experience with a specific plan for what they hope to accomplish as well as with the intent to be curious, assertive, humble, and confident. You should never find yourself bored or without something to do at your site. You can learn a lot by talking with various agency personnel, observing staff, reviewing policies and documents, chatting with office staff, etc. Curiosity about the agency’s staff, policies, programs, clientele, and resources will pay off as you gain an appreciation for the greater system and how it works.

There will be times when your Site Supervisors are very busy and not able to arrange things for you or have you shadow them. It is in these instances in particular that having a list of experiences or activities that you would like to accomplish or people you would like to chat with or observe can be of great benefit to you. When you don’t have something specific to do, you are more likely to be asked to engage in administrative tasks that are not of benefit to you as an intern. If you approach each day with some possible activities you could accomplish if you have time, then others will be less likely to “take advantage” of you. Being able to assertively share your professional goals will be important. Students who take a passive approach to their internship often leave unfulfilled and frustrated because they were not afforded the opportunities they had hoped to get. Your Site Supervisor may not know what you want or need unless you share that information. It is up to you to let your supervisors know what experiences you want or need to complete so that they can help you brainstorm how and when to make those happen.

Finally, we hope to see you exhibit a balance of confidence and humility. Knowing your strengths is important, but being open to feedback is equally important. You should be able to identify some things that you do well and that you are proud of, but you still should be open to feedback in these areas. Similarly, you should be able to identify areas in which you need more feedback, experience, and assistance. Being able to share your concerns and fears is critical to helping your supervisors understand what is going on in your head and how they can be helpful. Supervisors want to hear some of your best moments as well as some of your worst. You will learn the most by sharing your experiences and being willing to receive both positive and constructive feedback. We expect you to make mistakes; if you were perfect you would not need to be in this program. All counselors make mistakes, even experienced ones. Rather than get too caught up in what you might have not done so well, we hope that you can focus on identifying things you did do well and then work to build on those strengths as you continue throughout the program. We would not permit you to enroll in practicum or internship if we did not believe you possessed the basic skills to successfully complete those experiences.
Practicum and Internship Pre-Enrollment Tasks
(To be completed before each semester you plan to enroll in practicum and internship)

1. Meet with your Faculty Advisor
   Prior to submitting their practicum/internship application (see Appendix E), students should meet with their faculty advisor to ensure they have completed the appropriate courses. Advisors will review the student's progress in the program. If the progress is satisfactory, registration in the practicum/internship will be permitted. If the student has not yet met the course prerequisites, or if there are other concerns, registration may not be permitted.

2. Complete the Practicum/Internship Application (see Appendix E)
   This online form sent by the Program Coordinator is to be completed by either September 1 or February 1 during the semester before you intend to take the practicum/internship course. Students who do not complete the application on time will be permitted to enroll in practicum/internship only if space is left in the course after all others are enrolled.

3. Attend the Field Experience Information Session
   The field experience orientation will be conducted in conjunction with the EDC 8050 or another course in the fall. Student attendance at this session is mandatory.

4. Secure a Site and Submit the Site Supervisor Information Form
   Follow the instructions in the Securing Practicum and Internship Sites section on page 8. Submit the Site Supervisor Information Sheet and complete the Site Supervisor Information REQUEST survey (both found in the CMHC Canvas group) by May 15 for fall, and December 1 for spring practicum/internship pre-enrollment. Students who do not submit the form by the appropriate deadline will be enrolled in the course once they do so, only if they are approved and space is still left in the course. Please email Dr. Jennifer Hall (jgh3@clemson.edu) if you are having trouble securing a site by the deadline.

5. Obtain or Renew Professional Liability Insurance
   Students must have professional liability insurance in place before beginning any practicum or internship experience, and it must be maintained throughout the duration of those experiences. Liability insurance is available at student rates from various insurance carriers (See Appendix F), and students may choose whichever carrier they prefer, but evidence of holding a policy must be provided – turned in to your University Supervisor. Students should note that all student members of the American Counseling Association (ACA) receive liability insurance as part of their membership.
Practicum/Internship End of Course Tasks

The counselor education program is required to maintain documentation of students’ practicum and internship experiences for accreditation purposes.

At the end of each semester of practicum or internship, all students must complete an evaluation of the site and Site Supervisor. These evaluations will be completed via an online survey that can be found in your practicum/internship Canvas course. Students will receive a final grade in the practicum or internship course only upon completion of this survey and submission of the items listed below.

- Proof of Liability Insurance
- Field Experience Contract (see Appendix A), with all signatures
- Field Experience Mid-term and Final evaluations (completed by the Site Supervisor and given to the student), with all signatures
- Practicum/Internship Log
- Practicum/Internship University Supervision Log
- Summary of Practicum/Internship Form, with all signatures

Students must upload all documents into Chalk & Wire. Documents in Word, Excel, or other electronic formats, can be uploaded directly into Chalk & Wire. All documents requiring signatures must be scanned and saved with signatures before being uploaded. Multiple page documents should be scanned into one file when possible rather than as separate pages. Assignments related to each specific document will be loaded into the EDC 8360 or 8460 course and students will be responsible for ensuring that each document is uploaded into the corresponding assignment by the deadlines provided by their University Supervisor.
Frequently Asked Questions

1. How am I graded for these courses?

Practicum and internship courses are graded on a “Pass/Fail” scale, meaning that students will receive either a “P” or “F” on their final grade report. The credit hours for these courses will be included on your transcripts as part of the program’s total hour requirements; however, the final grades are not calculated into your overall GPA.

2. Can I work during my internship?

Internship must be completed over the course of two semesters, with a minimum of 300 hours (120 direct) being accrued each semester (unless carryover hours are approved). Many students hold part-time jobs while enrolled in internship. The important thing is to ensure that 20 hours a week are available to devote to internship. Most internship sites require students be available during daytime hours, so holding a fulltime, 9-5 job usually is not possible.

3. What books or materials do I need for practicum and internship?

Your University Supervisor will provide information in the course syllabus regarding specific requirements. Some University Supervisors require a textbook or other materials. Students are expected to be familiar with and have access to the ACA Code of Ethics. Students must have some method of audio or videotaping their counseling sessions (see question below - How Do I Record my Counseling Sessions?) Students are required to have an encrypted flash drive to transport and store recorded counseling sessions.

4. Am I expected to audiotape or videotape all of my counseling sessions?

Recordings are a requirement for both practicum and internship. A minimum of five (5) recordings and two (2) direct supervisor observations of counseling skills are required during practicum. A minimum of six (6) recordings and two (2) direct supervisor observations of counseling skills are required per semester during internship. Your University Supervisor could require more recordings or observations. Also, recording all sessions with permission to record is recommended to increase comfort levels with recording. There may be instances that arise in sessions that require supervision and support so it is best to have the recording available just in case. Videos are preferred so that nonverbal communication can be assessed, but any format is acceptable. Students must receive clients’ written permission (and parent/guardian permission if a minor) to audiotape or videotape counseling sessions (See Appendix G).
5. How do I record my counseling sessions?
Digital recording devices must be used. The device is required to be password protected and kept in a storage area with double-lock protection. All recordings should be encrypted. See Appendix H for comprehensive information on appropriate procedures for recorded counseling sessions. Recordings must never be shared via email or other non-secure cloud sharing platforms and should be deleted after use to protect confidentiality.

6. When can I start accumulating hours at my site?

The practicum and internship courses align with the semester start and end dates outlined in Clemson’s academic calendar. Students can start working on their sites as early as two weeks before the official first day of classes, but they cannot engage in direct client contact hours due to the fact Clemson’s liability coverage begins on the first day of the semester. Indirect hours that may be accumulated during this time include opportunities such as trainings, orientation, observation, and team meetings. Clemson’s official first day of class is the first day you can accumulate direct client contact hours, and the last day before grades are due is the last day you can accumulate hours.

Clinical Mental Health
Practicum/Internship Contract

The faculty members of Clemson University’s Counselor Education Program have designed the following contract and guidelines for students, Site Supervisors, and University Supervisors who will be participating in the practicum and internship experiences. We view Site Supervisors as partners in our effort to train skilled counselors. We believe that practicum and internship placements are mutually beneficial, and we hope the following guidelines will be informative and useful. Questions regarding these guidelines may be addressed to the practicum or internship student’s University Supervisor (the individual serving as the course instructor and leading peer group supervision) _________________________________ via phone: ____________, or email: ________________________________. Questions also may be addressed to the Field Placement Coordinator, Dr. Jennifer Hall, at jgh3@clemson.edu.

Each individual (Site Supervisor [SS], practicum or internship student [PI], or University Supervisor [US]) must initial to the left of each item under his/her section, then sign and date the final page. Site Supervisors and University Supervisors also must initial beside each student requirement.

Clemson University Clinical Mental Health Counseling Practicum

Clemson University clinical mental health counseling students typically complete their practicum during their 2\textsuperscript{nd} semester in the program (or if part-time, after completing approximately 24 credit hours). They have completed coursework in clinical mental health counseling, counseling theories, counseling skills, and are usually concurrently enrolled in courses covering group work, multicultural counseling, and psychodiagnosis. They are ready to provide counseling and to conduct intake sessions with support, mentoring, and supervision. We expect that students would be given lots of time to observe you and other agency staff as well as to be observed by you. Practicum students will follow Clemson’s academic calendar, so in the spring from early January through early May. You can see specific dates in Clemson’s academic calendar at \url{http://www.registrar.clemson.edu/html/Acad_Cal.htm}

- Practicum students must complete a total of 100 hours at their site - which averages to approximately 1 day or 2 half days a week. Of those 100 hours, they must complete a minimum of 40 direct contact hours – being involved in activities where they are working directly with clients (i.e., individual & group counseling, intake sessions, etc.). They are required to lead or co-lead at least one counseling or psychoeducational group either during practicum or internship.

- Students are expected to be at their sites consistently and weekly throughout the entire semester.

- Students should be exposed to the variety of responsibilities that counselors in your agency engage in, including counseling, consultation, staffings, administrative tasks, etc.

- Students must be able to audio- or video-record at least 5 counseling sessions, and it is important that you help them gain access to clients quickly.

- Site Supervisors (you) must agree to provide 1 hour per week of supervision. Ideally this would be a formal sit-down session, but we realize that sometimes an end of the day check-in or chatting after individual sessions are useful ways to approach this requirement.

- Site Supervisors must observe the student’s counseling (including a minimum of 2 formal direct observations per semester) to the extent that they will be able to provide concrete feedback and respond to all items on the evaluation form.

- Site Supervisors are expected to complete mid-semester and end-of semester evaluations of the practicum student, to contact the University Supervisor at any time with concerns or questions, and to respond promptly to emails or phone calls from the University Supervisor.

- Students receive weekly individual/triadic and group supervision from University Supervisors throughout the practicum, and they typically are concurrently enrolled in 2-3 courses. Thus, they have very busy schedules but tend to be most enthusiastic about practicum.

- We expect students to act professionally, ethically, and responsibly in your agencies. Please notify us immediately if you have any concerns.

Clemson University Clinical Mental Health Counseling Internship

Clemson University clinical mental health counseling students complete their two separate internships typically during their 2nd year – fall and spring semesters (or if part-time, after completing approximately half of their coursework). They are ready to provide individual and group counseling, and conduct intake sessions, with support and supervision. They might start by observing you, co-counseling with you, or being observed by you at first until you and they feel comfortable working more independently. We expect they would eventually be able to take on their own small caseload and responsibilities over time. Internship students will follow Clemson’s academic calendar, so in the fall would start mid-August and end early December, and in the spring from early January through early May. You can see specific dates in Clemson’s academic calendar at http://www.registrar.clemson.edu/html/Acad_Cal.htm

- Each semester students must complete a total of 300 hours at their site – which averages 20 hours, or 2 ½ days per week. Of those 300 hours, they must complete a minimum of 120 direct contact hours – being involved in activities where they are working directly with clients (i.e., individual & group counseling, intake sessions, etc.). They are required to lead or co-lead at least one counseling or psychoeducational group either during practicum or internship.
- Students are expected to be at their sites consistently and weekly throughout the entire semester.
- Students should be exposed to the variety of responsibilities that counselors in your agency engage in, including counseling, consultation, staffings, administrative tasks, etc. We want you to challenge them, and it is important that you help them gain access to clients quickly.
- Students must be able to audio- or video-record at least 6 counseling sessions. We hope you can help them obtain client permission.
- Site Supervisors (you) must agree to provide 1 hour per week of individual or triadic supervision. Ideally this would be a formal sit-down hour-long session, but we realize that sometimes an end of the day check in or chatting after individual sessions are useful ways to approach this requirement.
- Site Supervisors must observe the student’s counseling (including a minimum of 2 formal direct observations per semester) to the extent that they will be able to provide concrete feedback and respond to all items on the evaluation form.
- Site Supervisors are expected to complete mid-semester and end-of-semester evaluations of the internship student, to contact the University Supervisor at any time with concerns or questions, and to respond promptly to emails or phone calls from the University Supervisor.
- Students receive bi-weekly group supervision from University Supervisors throughout the internship, and they are often concurrently enrolled in 2-3 courses. Thus, they have very busy schedules but tend to be most enthusiastic about internship.
- We expect students to act professionally, ethically, and responsibly in your agencies. Please notify us immediately if you have any concerns.

Sample Consent to Audio or Video Record

I, ______________________________________ give my consent for my counseling sessions to be audio/video-recorded for supervisory and educational purposes. I understand the recordings may be reviewed in individual and/or small peer group supervision sessions. The policies of the audio/video-recording procedure, supervision, and confidentiality have been explained to me. I understand that the audio/video-recordings will be erased or destroyed upon completion of supervision.

The counselor who is providing services, ____________________________, is a clinical mental health counselor-in-training at Clemson University. As part of the training, s/he is required to tape some sessions. S/he is being supervised by ____________________________, who can be reached at ____________________ (phone) or _____________________________(email).

Appendix H
Audio and Video Recording Information

As part of practicum and internship, it is necessary for students to obtain recordings of sessions with clients. Students must also carefully follow the guidelines of the host agency regarding recorded sessions. To comply with Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and HITECH, the clinical mental health program provides the following guidelines for students in this process.

- Counseling sessions may be recorded only for the purpose of supervision, intern application of practice theory, and skill competence.
- The client must consent both verbally and in writing. The written consent should be added to the client file at the applicable agency.
- The client is informed that the therapy session is being recorded and the client consents to the recording. Ideally, consent to the recording should be given verbally on the recording.
- The recording device is not to be concealed from the client during the session.
- The recording is kept separate from the patient’s medical record. All recordings will be kept in lockable files prior to deletion.
- It is the students’ responsibility to keep sensitive client information double locked at all times.
- Students are required to delete recordings from their devices immediately following supervision.

Acceptable Recording/Storage Devices

- Before purchasing any sort of recording device, the student should first consult their specific site. Their site supervisor will inform students of any specific agency requirements involving recording.
- Any recording device must be digital.
- Passwords are required on any device.
- Encryption must be turned on.
- Recordings are transferred to an encrypted flash drive for storage and transporting to university supervision. Students are required to purchase an encrypted drive during practicum, such as this from Amazon: http://www.amazon.com/Kingston-8GB-Traveler-Encrypted-DTVP30/dp/B00G31OPB0
- All client documents (including recordings) must be double locked at all times.

Transporting a recording to and from practicum, internship or other classroom sites represents a potentially challenging situation. In addition to passwords and encryption, recordings must be double locked at all times. For example, a video in a locked car (lock 1) does not constitute double lock security. Ways of creating a double lock security situation include storing the recording in the locked glove compartment, a locked portable file cabinet or brief case within the car (lock 2).

Students are responsible for ensuring the privacy and confidentiality of their recorded sessions. If you have questions or concerns about requirements for recording counseling sessions, please contact the field placement coordinator Dr. Jennifer Hall (jgh3@clemson.edu).

Student Field Experience Agreement

As a graduate student in the Counselor Education program, I hereby certify that I:

1. Have read the Field Experience Manual in its entirety.
2. Understand my professional responsibility in regard to recording sessions and will abide by the taping policy and be proactive in protecting client confidentiality.
3. Will ask my university supervisor or field experience coordinator any questions that I have regarding appropriate taping procedures and devices.
4. Will abide by the American Counseling Association’s Code of Ethics as well as other professional standards of practice.
5. Will inform my university supervisor and/or the field experience coordinator of any site related issues that occur.
