

APPLY TODAY! clemsun.edu/graduate/admissions

Ph.D. in Literacy, Language and Culture

The College of Education has produced award-winning teachers and leaders since its first teacher education classes offered in 1916. Now, our “Best in Class” quality can be shared through our Ph.D. in literacy, language and culture.

About the Program

The Literacy, Language and Culture Program concentrates on knowledge of and issues related to literacy and language in formal and informal settings such as schools, communities and families. The program offers rich learning experiences and faculty expertise within a student-centered, collegial and collaborative environment focused on research, exploration and inquiry.

Cognates

Working with faculty, students design educational programs suited to their areas of interest. Possible cognates and issues of scholarly focus in Literacy, Language and Culture may include but are not limited to:

- Biliteracy and bilingualism
- Children’s and young adult literature
- Digital literacy
- Diversity and critical literacy
- Early literacy development
- Elementary literacy development
- English education
- Literacy assessment
- Literacy in the disciplines
- Writing

Clemson’s College of Education is ‘Best in Class’

The College of Education is the highest-rated graduate school of education in South Carolina and its M.Ed. in Teaching and Learning program is the #1 online graduate education program in the United States (U.S. News and World Report).

Clemson University is consistently ranked among the top 30 best national public universities by U.S. News and World Report.

Our college is committed to transform education through innovation and collaboration, with nationally renowned programs such as Call Me MISTER, STEAM Education, ClemsonLIFE, and the Reading Recovery and Early Literacy Training Center for South Carolina.

Apply Today!

The program admits students for the fall term only. Please apply early to ensure consideration for an assistantship or University Fellowship. Visit clemsun.edu/graduate/admissions to start your application.

Application Deadlines

January 15 Priority application deadline

April 15 Application deadline