The College of Education has produced award-winning teachers and leaders since its first teacher education classes offered in 1916. Now, our “Best in Class” quality can be shared nationally through our online Master of Education in Teaching and Learning — the #1 online graduate education program in the nation, according to U.S. News & World Report. Embedded within a top 25 public university and designed for working professionals like you, the Clemson M.Ed. offers flexibility, specialized skills and practical knowledge to help you take the next step in your career.

What is the M.Ed. program?
The Clemson M.Ed. program is a 100% online graduate program for current K-12 educators. The rich, engaging curriculum will prepare you to advance your professional standing in just 18 months.

How do M.Ed. students learn?
Our students engage in a rigorous curriculum through state-of-the-art online learning. Students complete 18 hours of core coursework, as well as 12 hours in one of three specializations: STEAM, Early Childhood Education or Instructional Coaching.

What do M.Ed. graduates gain?
They gain skills to increase their career options, experience in solving core educational problems, and the opportunity to explore teaching, learning and motivation in context. Our students also benefit from the extensive Clemson network, which includes more than 144,000 alumni worldwide.

---

Benefits of Earning an M.Ed. in Teaching and Learning from Clemson

- Increase expertise in your field
- Join a network of practitioners who strives to continuously improve instructional practice
- Expand your career options and increase pay in most states

---

What Employers Say

I can’t say enough good things about the quality of the teaching candidates that come out of Clemson University. They are always at the top of our list when interviewing for teaching candidates.”

Charles Mayfield
Principal, J.L. Mann High School, Greenville, South Carolina

---

What Students Say

“Since moving to South Carolina, I have worked with many Clemson grads. They have all had wonderful experiences with Clemson and are incredible educators. I am excited that Clemson offers a 100% online graduate degree so I can continue working and pursue this degree.”

Susanna Fricks
Current Student

---

For more information, email M.Ed. in Teaching and Learning Program Coordinator Julie Jones at jgambre@clemson.edu.