The SCYFAA Farmer of the Year is Kevin Gowdy of the East Clarendon Chapter.
Kevin is the 7th generation owner and operator of Long Branch Farms in Cades SC.
Kevin started farming full time after high school on the land that can be traced back to a Royal Land Grant when South Carolina was a colony. The farm currently consists of around 300 acres of produce and 500 acres of corn, wheat and soybeans in rotations.
The farm is well known for the quality produce that is grown on the acreage. The produce consists of 180 acres of butter beans and peas, 35 acres of cabbage, 8 acres of collards, 2 acres of broccoli, and many acres of seedless watermelons.
The produce is sold at local grocery stores, wholesale companies, a family member’s produce store and to community members.
One of the best advancements to help the farm was the addition of Quick Books. This saves time with the payroll, tracking purchases, and preparing information for taxes. Kevin uses the latest technology to help him keep up with market prices and weather, no matter if he is in the field or at a meeting.
The use of precision agriculture has also had a great impact on the farm with better management of fertilizers and pesticides. Field mapping data helps to keep a more accurate record of the yields and costs associated with the areas of production. This allows for more sound marketing decisions.
Kevin has upgraded some of the unreliable farm equipment with new or late model equipment over the last 10 years.
A bulldozer was also purchased to do some side work during slow time. This also helps with field edges and roads.
Two 1870’s pack houses have been restored on the farm and they received recognition from the National Trust for Historic Preservation’s “Barn Again” program.
Future plans include doubling the acres farmed, as his nephew and son get more involved in the farm operation. Plans are also underway for a new, more modern packing shed.
Kevin and his wife Sharon have one son Ben and are members of Maranatha Pentecostal Holiness Church.
Kevin is a member of the Williamsburg County Farm Bureau Board of Directors and Sharon is a member of the SC Farm Bureau’s Women’s committee.
Kevin has also recently been elected to the SCYFAA Executive Committee where he serves as the Pee Dee Region Vice President.
He is an active member of the East Clarendon Chapter where his advisor is Bert Beasley.
AgribusINESS
Person Of The Year
Michael Steel

Contributed by Stephen E. Sanderson

The SCYFAA AgribusINESS Person of the Year is Michael Steel of the Edgefield County Chapter.

Michael is the manager of the vegetable division of Titan Farms in Ridge Springs SC. Titan farms is well known as being the third largest producer of peaches in the country, but they also currently have over 700 acres dedicated to the production of vegetables.

Michael started working with Titan Farms during high school in 2001 and now he manages the 700+ acres of vegetables and truck crops for the farm. The farm currently produces 375 acres of bell peppers, 275 acres of broccoli, 30 acres of watermelons, 20 acres of cantaloupe and eggplant, and 10+ acres of a mixed garden for the two roadside markets the farm has. In the first five years since Michael took over the vegetables they have more than doubled in acres.

Some of the improvements made due to this expansion are a new packing and shipping line for bell peppers, a new packing line and ice room for broccoli, new coolers were built and remodeled to handle the increase in volume, and the addition of multiple automated irrigation systems.

Michael is also very interested in the use of culled product in IQF (Individually Quick Frozen) or Shelf Stable Products. This will allow the farm to sell sliced vegetables as a healthy snack or for cooking purposes. This gives them a longer shelf life.

To evaluate the management of the farm, Michael monitors crop yield, quality of the crops and customer satisfaction. They track input cost, fruit size, yields by fields and varieties. This helps determine the planting schedules for the following year. Customer feedback is also used to analyze the operations, as far as quality and growing and packing methods.

In the next five years Michael would like to continue to add acres to the Vegetable division, if land is available. He would like to venture into tomatoes, lettuce, beets and radishes for direct sales to restaurants.

Michael is a member of the SC Vegetable Growers Association, the Strom Thurmond Career Center Agriculture Department Advisory Committee and would like to get more involved in the State Young Farmers and Agribusiness Association. He is also a graduate from Clemson University with a degree in Agricultural Mechanization & Business.

Michael is a member and vice president of the Edgefield County Young Farmer Chapter. His advisors are Darla Steele and Jeremy Brooks.

He is married to Darla and they have one child – Beckett Camdyn. They are members of the University Parkway Church of God.
Farmers, Pork, and Soybeans: A Historic Combination
Contributed by Stephen E. Sanderson

The South Carolina Young Farmer and Agribusiness Association experienced a successful and historical state conference at the Hilton Myrtle Beach Resort. Record numbers flocked to Myrtle Beach for the collaboration between the SCYFAA, the SC Pork Board, and the SC Soybean Board for the annual conference of the three organizations.

The conference program began on Friday with a seminar for Agricultural Educators and concluded with an Awards Banquet sponsored by the SC Pork Board and the SC Soybean Board, which highlighted agriculture leaders and award winners from the three groups. The night concluded with motivational speaker Michele Payn-Knoper, who inspired the audience to celebrate their authentic role in agriculture and share that celebration with others.

The SC Pork Board presented the following awards at the Friday Night Banquet: the Pork Producer of the Year, the Pork Industry Award, and the Pork Board Outstanding Service Award. Awards presented by the SCYFAA included: Energy Efficiency, Conservationist of the year, and the Outstanding Service Awards.

Saturday’s program began early with a business session followed by informative educational workshops that included CAMM Certification, Advocating Through Social Media, How To Be a BBQ Pit Master, and Pest and Weed Management. There was also an update on Livestock and Poultry Health from the State Veterinarian’s Office.

The Awards Luncheon on Saturday included recognition of regional and state champions in various crop and production categories. An ice cream and dessert social with the exhibitors followed lunch.

The Saturday Awards Banquet featured the recognition of the Farmer of the Year, the Agribusiness Person of the year, the Outstanding Chapter Advisor, Outstanding Chapter Awards, and the Distinguished Service Award. A successful and profitable auction led by Auctioneer Sam Smith ended the conference.

State officers elected include Tripp Kemp, President, Edisto County Chapter; Mac McLeod, President-Elect, Sumter Chapter; Jeremy Holtzclaw, Piedmont Region Vice President, Crescent Chapter; Amanda Lutz, Mid-State Region Vice President, Chester Chapter; James Fanning, Lower-State Region Vice President, Edisto Chapter; Kevin Gwoddy, Pee Dee Region Vice President, East Clarendon Chapter; and Chris Bradham, Past-President/ Treasurer, Lee County Chapter.

Steve Sanderson serves as Executive Director for the organization. The Advisor for the organization is Billy Keels, State Director of Agriculture Education.

Deep In The Heart Of Texas

Contributed by Stephen E. Sanderson

The South Carolina Young Farmers and Agribusiness Association was represented by seventeen members at the National Young Farmer Educational Association Institute held in San Antonio, Texas. The five voting delegates for South Carolina were Keith Cox, Tripp Kemp, Frank McLeod, Jay Fanning and Chris Bradham. Pat Earle, agriculture educator from McBee High School, attended and made a presentation on behalf of the 2015 NYFEA Institute Committee.

The institute continued with two days of tours through the Lone Star State. On the Thursday tours, participants were able to tour the James Madison Agriscience Magnet School and the San Jose Mission. The first day of tours concluded with a self-guided tour of downtown San Antonio where participants were able to experience the River Walk, the Mi Mercado Mexican Market, and the Alamo. The evening activities included the “Taste of Texas” reception hosted by the Texas Delegation. Participants were able to experience authentic Texas cuisine while visiting with the many exhibitors that were present at the event.

On Friday the group traveled to the Historic Hill Country to visit Johnson City, the LBJ Ranch, Becker Vineyards, and Wildseed Farms. The day was completed with a traditional steak dinner and dance at historic Luckenbach, Texas with “Waylon, Willie and the boys”.

Saturday’s activities included the Agriculture Decision Makers Breakfast and a scenic tour of the San Antonio area. The institute concluded with the John Deere Awards banquet, the annual auction, and the sounds and rhythm of a traditional Mariachi Band. The banquet concluded with the installation of the new national officers with South Carolina’s own Tim Kelley elected to serve as President to the National Organization.

Tim Kelley of the Crescent Young Farmers Chapter was elected to serve as President to the National Young Farmer Educational Association at the 2013 NYFEA Institute in San Antonio, Texas. Tim started his agriculture leadership journey as a member to the Crescent High School FFA. He then became active in the local chapter where he eventually served as a chapter officer. Tim was elected to the SCVFAA Executive committee as Piedmont Region Vice President in 2009 where he served faithfully for a two-year term. Tim then decided to seek national office by running for NYFEA Secretary in 2011. He was elected to this office at the 2011 NYFEA Institute in Kansas City, Missouri. Tim is currently serving a three-year term as National President Elect, National President, and Past President. Tim has represented South Carolina exemplarily on the national level and always has production agriculture and agribusiness at the top of his agenda.

The Lee County Young Farmer & Agribusiness Chapter was chartered in 2008. The chapter currently consists of 28 chapter members with an average age of 47. The advisor of the chapter is Beth Tolson. Beth is also the current agriculture teacher and FFA Advisor at the Lee County Career and Technology Center.

The chapter offers many educational programs to its members that include Seed Varieties, Financial Planning, Farm Service Loans, Farm Equipment, pasture grasses, precision agriculture and soil conservation.

The Chapter has also worked collaboratively with other local chapters to include several educational meetings that are held jointly with three different neighboring county Young Farmer and Agribusiness chapters on key issues.

The Lee County chapter supports the local community by supporting the local high school Agricultural Education program by assisting in chaperoning field trips, assisting with a market goat project and provided finances and labor to assist in repairing the school greenhouse. The chapter also established a $1000 William D. “Pork Chop” Welsh memorial Scholarship for a deserving student in the community. In addition, the chapter provided financial support to the South Carolina Cotton Museum and established a banquet in the community to recognize a local Farmer of the Year and Agribusiness person of the Year.

The Chapter was active in supporting the South Carolina Young Farmer and Agribusiness Association by hosting the 2013 Summer Tour. In addition, a chapter member currently serves as Past President/Treasurer of the State Association. Chapter members also attended the Young Farmer and Agribusiness State Convention and the NVFEA National Institute.

This chapter serves as a model educational program for the organization.

Every year South Carolina High School agricultural education students and FFA members attend the SC FFA-sponsored State Legislators Appreciation Ceremony in Columbia. The students and their FFA advisor began the day by visiting with State Senators and Representatives from their home districts to thank them for their support of Agricultural Education. Their local representative introduced some FFA chapters to the members of the House of Representatives, while in session.

Following the visits, the group joined the hundreds of FFA members and advisors from throughout South Carolina on the north steps of the State Capitol for a special recognition ceremony. The event got under way with the Presentation of Colors by Manning FFA Color Guard. The group was lead in the Pledge of Allegiance by Cameron Padgett, State FFA Vice President.

The State FFA Officers presented the prestigious Honorary State FFA Degree to Stephanie Kolok and Mike Shealy, with the SC Forestry Commission and Maureen Tiller, Principal at Clinton High School. The purpose of the Honorary State degree is to recognize individuals who have rendered outstanding service to agricultural education and the FFA program.

Commissioner Hugh Weathers, SC Commissioner of Agriculture, presented the Governor’s Proclamation to the State FFA Officers on behalf of Governor Haley. This was in recognition of National FFA Week February 15-22, 2014.

State Senator Daniel B. Verdin, of Laurens, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee and State Representative Nelson L. Hardwick, of Horry County, Chairman of the House Agriculture, Natural Resources & Environmental Affairs Committee, both gave remarks to the FFA members in attendance and presented a Concurrent Resolution of Recognition and Commendation to the State FFA Officers on behalf of all the members of the SC General Assembly.

The 2013-14 state FFA officers conducted the ceremony at the South Carolina State House. They are: Anna Mink, State President, from the Aiken chapter; Shelby Wayne, State Secretary from the McBee chapter; Savannah Vickery, State Vice President from the Pendleton chapter; Karley Young State Vice President from the Clinton chapter; Randi Sims State Vice President from the Lakewood chapter and Cameron Padgett, State Vice President from Pelion chapter.

The week of George Washington’s birthday was designated as National FFA Week in 1947 at a National FFA Board of Directors meeting. FFA Week always runs from Saturday to Saturday and encompasses Washington’s Birthday.

The FFA positively influences the young people of America by developing character and leadership skills, and preparing members for successful careers. FFA members are the leaders of tomorrow. Through agricultural education and hands-on learning, FFA members are preparing for more than 300 career opportunities in the food, fiber and natural resources industries of agriculture. With more than 579,500 members, the organization has a history of service and a legacy of leadership.

American FFA Degree

The American FFA Degree is the highest and most prestigious award presented to a select number of outstanding FFA members from throughout the nation by the National FFA Organization. Thirteen South Carolina FFA members were among those chosen to receive this award but all could not attend the Nation Convention last fall. On behalf of the National FFA Organization, State President Anna Mink presents Alicia Hawksworth of the McBee Chapter, Maria Ausburn (former State FFA Secretary) of the Crescent Chapter and Cody Bishop (former State FFA Secretary) of the Edisto Chapter their American Degree certificate and charm.

State FFA Officers Announce the Dates of the 87th State Convention

On behalf of the 2013-14 State Officer Team, I would like to announce that the State FFA Convention take place at Clemson University, June 11-13, 2014. The business and general sessions will be held in the Brooks Center for the Performing Arts.

The first general session will begin at 6:30 PM, Wednesday, June 11th, with an official welcome to Clemson University by Dean Thomas R. Scott, College of Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences. Outstanding FFA chapters will be recognized as National Chapter winners in the Superior, Bronze Emblem, Silver Emblem and Gold Emblem categories. A number of scholarships will be awarded during this session and after the session join everyone for a performance by Doug McCormick, Nashville recording artist.

On Thursday, June 12th, the state finals in eight career development events (CDE) will be conducted that morning. The second general session will begin at 1:30 PM with the recognition of state champions in CDE’s held during the school year and we will be confirming the State FFA Degrees to our best members. Among the highlights of the Thursday evening’s 6:30 PM session, is our keynote speaker Mark Black. Mark will ignite all of us with his presentation—“The Rest of Your Life Begins Now”. The FFA Stars over South Carolina Ceremony will recognize regional and state stars in farming, agribusiness and agricultural placement. A number of Honorary State Degrees will also be presented to friends and supporters of the FFA. The closing session on Friday morning will include the announcement of state winners in career development events held during the convention, other recognition programs and of course the election of the 2014-15 team.

As we eagerly await convention during these next months, I ask that you reflect on this year’s theme of “Ignite”. What do we as individuals ignite? Well, for the pyromaniacs out there, maybe it is fireworks, campfires, and hopefully nothing dangerous. But more importantly, what do we ignite inside of us? Do we ignite our heart with the hunger to fulfill our purpose? Do we ignite our soul with a genuine passion for the love and service we give to others? Is our passion for FFA burning with the brightest possible flame for all to see? Let that flame burn, South Carolina FFA members! My teammates and I have been honored to share this year with you, and we cannot contain our excitement to share the 87th Annual South Carolina State FFA Convention with all of you! God bless.

The SC FFA Center staff is excited about what this summer’s camp program has in store! Many camp traditions will continue. Nightly bonfires, cardboard construction competition and pickup games of dodgeball are staples of the camp experience, but some major changes have taken place at the center, intent on providing a more valuable camping experience. The most notable addition to the camp this year is the opening of a paintball course. This will give campers the chance to take part in a high adrenaline, team building, and problem solving rotation.

2013 marked the passing of longtime cook and camp supporter, Mr. Sam Skipper. However no one will ever be able to replace Mr. Sammy, the camp has brought on Cole Almassy to prepare the meals for this summer’s camp programs. Almassy has worked in kitchens for numerous years and has competed in the professional Barbecue circuit. Almassy promises to continue the longstanding tradition of low country boil.

2014 also marks the beginning of a new chapter in the center’s history. The 2013 camp programs were directed by Carl Kest. During the summer of 2013 Kest accepted a position with the University of Richmond athletics department in Richmond, Virginia. William Nelson will now direct the day-to-day operations of the center.

Campers should expect nothing less than a fantastic and memorable camping experience this summer at the center. After a day of high ropes, kayaking, swimming or paintball campers can relax by taking part in the nightlife package we are offering this year. This summer’s nightlife program consists of NASCAR Speedpark, Legends in Concert, and concludes with an evening dolphin cruise.

If you would like more information about this year’s camp program or help planning your visit go to www.scaged.org or contact William Nelson at 864-682-0784.

Nelson Hired as Camp Director

Contributed by Billy Keels

William Nelson has been named as the Director of the South Carolina FFA Camp. Nelson is no stranger to the FFA in South Carolina. A native of Laurens, SC, William is a former member of the FFA where he was an active member of the Laurens FFA Chapter and also served as a State Officer in 2007-08.

Upon graduation from high school, William completed his undergraduate work at Clemson University in Agricultural Education and recently completed his Masters degree in Agricultural Communication at Texas Tech University.

In addition to his course work, Nelson has done extensive work in Agricultural studies to include serving as a Farm Bureau Ambassador and studying abroad in Russia in conjunction with Moscow State Agroengineering University and St. Petersburg Polytechnic University.

Nelson plans on using his experience with agricultural communications and marketing to grow the FFA Camp program and work to ensure that the facilities are used to their greatest potential.

Did you know that Swansea FFA members have been working diligently on creating unique picnic tables to sell for a fundraiser? Along with that, these superstar members donate a Saturday every semester to working at a car wash that serves as the chapter’s biggest fundraiser! As if they weren’t already busy enough, these members also look forward to volunteering at the Palmetto Sportsmen’s Classic each year and provide help at the DNR’s kids craft booth during the three day long event. A huge thanks goes to these Swansea FFA members for sharing their passion with Shelby and I!

Anna

Did you know Ashley Dill, agriculture teacher at Union County Career and Technology Center was a FFA State Officer in Ohio back in 2005-2006? Did you know that the agriculture classes at Union run a grooming business out of their classroom? They groom dogs from Halfway There Rescue and also local clients. They also participate in a service activity called Blue Christmas and collect canned goods and gifts for three needy families. They collect over 5,000 food items and every item on the children’s wish list.

Kerley

Did you know that Cheraw FFA feeds their school? Members of the Cheraw FFA Chapter plant, harvest, and sanitize vegetables from their garden to sell to their school cafeteria. Cafeteria staff then prepares vegetables such as cucumbers, squash, and lettuce from the FFA garden for students to eat at lunch. Not only are these FFA members learning to grow their own healthy foods, but Mr. Bollier and his students are teaching the students of Cheraw High School the importance of the agriculture industry starting at home. How awesome is that?

Shelby

Did you know that Wagener-Salley chapter is home to approximately 75 of our states most involved and exited members! “Our chapter meets once a month and our club meetings are so fun!” contributed chapter Secretary, Haley Williamson. FFA members from Barnwell, Saluda, Aiken High, Ridge Spring, Midland Valley and Aiken County Career and Technology Center enjoyed a skating party hosted by Wagener-Salley FFA at Three Fountains Skating Rink. Other meeting activities that Wagener-Salley has held this year include a kickball tournament, minute-to-win-it games, a softball game, a flag-football game, and tons more!

Cameron

Did you know that the Beaufort-Jasper FFA chapter is the most southern FFA chapter in South Carolina? They are the home to a wide variety of animals like chinchillas, goats, and even the occasional raccoon! They also just unveiled the new Outdoor Livestock Learning Lab. The school’s new barn and pasture was funded by a local grant. The new learning facility has been created to enrich the new completer program, Plant & Animal Systems, which is now offered. This new facility is really great for the FFA members.

Randi

Did you know that every year the Blacksburg and Cherokee FFA Chapters get together for a special Leadership Dinner? This year it was a miracle that it happened after being rescheduled three times due to the snow days. It’s a night full of food, fun and fellowship between the two chapters that Randi and I had the privilege of attending. What does your chapter do to build relationships with other chapters in your area?
