SC FFA was “Amplified” at Clemson University with nearly 900 members, advisors and guest that attended the 89th South Carolina FFA Convention. The convention was held in the Brooks Center for Performing Arts on June 8th - 10th, 2016.

During the First General Session, the Pendleton JROTC posted the colors and the National Anthem was sung by Alexis Clark, Erica Wearing and Emily Steele from Seneca FFA, and Anna Catherine Wayne, 2014-2015 State FFA President, gave the invocation after the State FFA Officers opened the session. The convention attendees were formally welcomed to campus by Dr. James P. Clements, President of Clemson University.

Also, during this session, the outstanding chapters were recognized in the National Chapter and Governor’s Citation presentations. Individual FFA members were recognized for receiving over $29,000 worth of scholarships for their hard work in school and with their Supervised Agriculture Experience (SAE). This was a record amount for the association. Appreciation was expressed to the SC Young Farmers and Agribusiness Association, National FFA and the SC Fertilizer and Agrichemicals Association for their continued support of the SC FFA through scholarships. The keynote speaker, Judson Laipply, used the phenomenon labeled “Inspirational Comedy” to make the convention laugh and think in his presentation.

Thursday morning began with members competing in the eight State CDE events that were conducted on the Clemson University campus. Those not competing in CDE’s were given the opportunity to attend a workshop presented by National FFA Vice President, Abrah Meyers or tour the new West End Zone at Clemson’s Death Valley.

The Second General session was held on Thursday afternoon, during which the state officer candidates were introduced, and the SCAAE recognized twenty-four “Teach Ag” students. These students have shown a serious interest in teaching agriculture in the future. The State FFA Degree was also presented to two hundred and eighteen members. The keynote speaker for the session was Stephen Tyner, the 2005 -2006 SC FFA State President from the McBee FFA chapter.

At the Third General Session held on Thursday evening, a record nineteen members were recognized as candidates for the American FFA Degree. This is the highest degree the National FFA offers. The Honorary State FFA Degree was bestowed to eleven adults that have supported the South Carolina FFA Association. In addition, FFA members were recognized for their Supervised Agriculture Experience (SAE) projects during the “FFA Stars over South Carolina presentation”. The session ended with a keynote presentation by National FFA Vice President, Abrah Meyers. After the session everyone was invited to Pickens County Career and Technology Center for a night of ice cream, games, music and friends.

The Convention concluded on Friday morning with the Fourth General Session where forty-five chapters received awards for having 75% -100+% membership. Hugh Weathers, South Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture, made a special presentation as one chapter that registered ten or more members, was randomly selected to have dinner with him. Commissioner Weathers also accepted a donation from the SC FFA chapters and the SC FFA Association to the “Plant It Forward” initiative to help farmers that suffered from the historical flood of 2015.

The session also honored nineteen members as State Proficiency Award winners and concluded with the announcement of six FFA members who will serve as the 2016-2017 State Officer Team.

The 2015-16 State FFA Officer team is to be commended for their hard work during their year of service and for conducting a very successful state convention.

Contributed by Keith Cox

The National Chapter Award program recognizes FFA chapters that successfully complete an annual Program of Activities that includes a series of activities designed to encourage its members to grow as individuals, to work as part of a team, and to serve others.

Mr. Wesley Harris, Secretary/Treasurer of the South Carolina Rural Rehabilitation Corporation and Wilfred L. Pace, State Executive Director, South Carolina Farm Service Agency, presented the chapters with a check for $1000 on behalf of SC Rural Rehabilitation Corporation.

FA Star Farmer – Graylyn Christenbury

Contributed by Keith Cox

The State Star Farmer is Graylyn Christenbury from the Crescent FFA Chapter.

Graylyn is a part owner of an 82-acre farm in Starr, SC, which consists of beef cattle, poultry, hay and timber. He also rents an additional 20 acres of pastureland. He has learned all aspects of the farm, including vaccination and clipping of his cattle. He observes his cattle each and every day and checks for sickness or injuries.

Graylyn has learned that 82 acres of pasture require constant maintenance on the fences to keep them in good condition. He ran temporary electric fences to create rotational grazing.

In his care are 17 cows that he owns by himself and knows the history and health of each of them as he checks them daily for sound herd management. Graylyn learned that if he works with his cattle often, this builds docility in the cattle, which makes its easier to administer shots and handling them.

Graylyn has learned how to artificially inseminate his herd. He’d rather do this so he can choose the genetics that suit him the best. He states that with his size of herd, it is less expensive to AI.

Graylyn believes that proper maintenance on equipment may cost more time and material up front, but for a long term investment its much less expensive to grease his equipment before a long day in the field.

Roger Estridge and Jeff Murdock are his advisors.

Star in Agribusiness – Melanie Mullikin

Contributed by Keith Cox

The State Star in Agribusiness is Melanie Mullikin from the Pendleton FFA Chapter. Melanie is the proud owner-operator of “Mo’s Snak Shak”, which is a vending business where she mainly sells boiled peanuts.

Melanie lives on a 20-acre farm in Pendleton where they have several varieties of livestock. Her family has owned this property since the 1890’s.

Melanie has a small building that is easily portable with a truck and trailer. She can have her building set up for business in less than 10 minutes wherever she travels.

Mo’s Snak Shak gives back to the community by donating a portion of her profits back to the event that she is working. Such as, when she sold at the elementary school field day, she gave all of her profits back to their school.

Melanie bags the peanuts after she boils them to make it easier to transport and measure out for resell. She is a one-person operation and that, of course, includes accounting. To keep her bottom line and stay in the black, she is very attentive with her proceeds and keeps very good records of her finances.

Cooking peanuts is a long process that can’t be rushed. The water has to be kept continuously boiling for the best tasting peanuts. She states that she has learned safe practices to avoid being burned by the steam.

She believes in the best customer service and she credits much of her recent business success with repeat customers and word of mouth advertisement.

Her advisor is Blake Berry.

Star in Agricultural Placement – Will Lever

Contributed by Keith Cox

The State Star in Agricultural Placement is Will Lever from the Newberry FFA Chapter. Will is employed by Lever Farms in Newberry, SC, which grow, harvest, and market a variety of seasonal vegetables. They transplant their strawberries as plugs and he works together with his family as a team as they transplant 38,000 plants over 3 acres.

Will lends his hand not only in the field but also in marketing the product of his soil. They sell produce at several farmers markets including, Newberry, Irmo, and even Asheville, NC. He and his family split up on the weekends and travel to those locations in hopes to cover a larger area and still keep the market open on the farm.

Lever Farms is currently the only farm in Newberry County that offers a “U pick / We Pick” pumpkin and strawberry operation. Since they began this operation, field trip requests have skyrocketed. They have begun reserving Fridays as the field trip day.

Will enjoys serving as a tour guide as often as he can. The tours begin with a guided tour through the garden area then they travel by wagon to see the livestock, bees, and peach orchard. They allow customers to pick their own, which has really been a huge help with labor costs. The customers enjoy the experience and the farm benefits from having less labor costs.

Will’s Advisors are Ashley Priester and Holly Havird.

ArborOne Farm Credit Supports the SC FFA

Contributed by Keith Cox

ArborOne Farm Credit contributed $20,000 to the South Carolina FFA Association during the State Convention from proceeds raised during their Aim-at-Ag” sporting clays tournament fundraiser.

The event is held annually. The 2016 event, held on September 24 at Black River Sporting Clays in Kingstree, SC had a large number of shooters. Many FFA members were on hand to participate and to assist with conducting the tournament.

Over the past 5 years, ArborOne has raised over $80,000 to support the South Carolina FFA Association.
FFA Members Enjoy a Summer of Camping Activities
Contributed by Megan Stevens

This summer, over 500 FFA members from across the state flocked to the FFA camp in North Myrtle Beach to enjoy the sun, sand, and recreational activities the camp had to offer. Campers were afforded the opportunity to become closer to members from their own chapter as well as forming relationships with other members from across the state.

Campers participated in a variety of traditional camp activities including beach trips, kayaking, low ropes, high ropes, paintball, pool, athletics, cardboard project, and color war. It was a pleasure to watch how much the students enjoyed themselves during the weeks and to see the take away’s from their experiences at camp.

The highlight of the week for many campers was completing the high ropes course. To do so they must be willing to overcome fears of heights, falling, and failure. They also learn the importance of being an encourager to others when they are facing difficult tasks. Another camper favorite is paintball; having to work with unfamiliar people to create, communicate, execute, and adjust a plan at a moments notice provides a real-world opportunity to practice the leadership skills FFA promotes in its members.

Thursdays were a blast of FFA spirit as the blue and gold teams competed in a variety of contest during the “color war”. Each morning began with beach games, while afternoons were spent competing in kayak races, water sports, paintball and always the fan favorite lip-sync competition.

This year’s cardboard project challenged campers to build a working rocking chair from nothing but cardboard, duct tape, and a dowel rod. Several of this year’s winners were able to function while holding over 200 pounds!

FFA members are afforded the opportunity to participate in camping programs held throughout the summer, spring and fall.
Teachers Conference Held in York County

Contributed by Billy Keels

The 2016 South Carolina Agricultural Education Teachers Conference was held in July in York County at Fort Mill High School. Teachers who arrived early had an opportunity to tour BankAmerica Stadium, home of the Carolina Panthers. Teachers not only had the opportunity to see the field and discuss procedures to ensure it is game ready, but also had the opportunity to get a behind the scenes look at the locker rooms, press box and coaches boxes.

Fort Mill High School was host to the 2016 conference, which started off with the opening session that included updates from the Agricultural Education staff and faculty as well as updates from the Department of Education presented by Maria Swygert, Education Associate and Team Leader with the office of Career and Technical Education. Tom Dobbins, Director of the Clemson Extension Service, also addressed teachers.

The SCAAE Banquet followed the opening session. The event was held at the beautiful Brakefield at Riverwalk conference center and featured the recognition of deserving teachers from across the state for their success in the classroom as well as recognition of those who provided support to Agricultural Education in South Carolina.

The objective of the conference was to provide educational programs for the teachers in attendance to prepare them for the coming school year. Teachers had an opportunity to choose from a variety of workshops, which covered such topics ranging from Certifications, Soil Judging, Welding Simulators, Local Plans and Inquiry Based Learning.

The South Carolina Agricultural Educators Conference is held annually to provide in-service to Agricultural Educators to ensure that they are kept up-to-date with developments in both education and the agricultural industry.

Glenn Stevens Named Distinguished Teacher
Contributed by Tim Keown

Glenn Stevens, agricultural educator at Belton-Honea Path High School, was recently named the 2016 Clark Woods Distinguished Teacher. The South Carolina Association of Agricultural Educators (SCAAE) gives this award during their statewide conference, which was held in Rock Hill, SC.

His peers, who are from all corners of South Carolina, selected Stevens for this high award, which proves how far his leadership and influence ranges. Stevens is the perfect candidate for the award due to his excellence in the classroom as well as his student’s success outside of the classroom. He has coached nine state winning FFA Career Development Teams in his career as well as advised six State FFA Officers. Under his guidance, the BHP FFA Chapter has been named a “Gold Chapter” twelve times and received the Governor’s Citation three times.

Stevens’ longtime friend and colleague, Frank Stover Jr., presented the award. As he introduced the winner, he stated, “Receiving any award bearing the name of Clark Woods is sure to be a great honor. Mr. Stevens has a lot in common with Clark Woods. They both are great and successful teachers who are well respected by their peers and loved by their students. Clark was quiet and reserved, well, that’s where the similarities end! Glenn is known statewide for voicing his opinions on any issues that effect student success. He always makes decisions that are student centered, first.”

Stevens was also awarded the SCAAE Mentor Teacher of the Year Award for his guidance of seventeen student teachers over the years. He has been named Teacher of the Year for Travelers Rest High School in 1992 and also at BHP High School in 2000 and 2012. He has advised over one hundred and fifty FFA degree recipients, SCAAE Teacher of the year in 1997 and 2012, SCAAE Secondary Program in 2006, served as president of the SCAAE, and a multitude of other awards and professional service.

Stevens has taught high school agricultural education courses for thirty-one years in South Carolina. He taught eight years at Travelers Rest High School and twenty-three at BHP High School. Stevens serves as one of the chapter advisors for the BHP FFA and the Anderson Young Farmers. He is happily married to Maureen and they have three children, Ryan, Neal, and Erin.

Senator Greg Hembree Receives Parris Agricultural Leadership Award

Senator Greg Hembree of Little River, SC, who represents State Senatorial District 28 including Horry and Dillon Counties, was presented the John W. Parris Agricultural Leadership Award by the SC Association of Agricultural Educators at their recent conference held in Rock Hill, SC. The award was presented to Senator Hembree by W. Pat Earle, Agricultural Education instructor at McBee High School, on behalf of the agricultural educators group.

“Senator Hembree demonstrates superb leadership on behalf of the Agriculture community in South Carolina as a member of the Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee, the Education Committee, the Transportation Committee and the Fish, Game and Forestry Committee of the State Senate,” Mr. Earle said. “The Senator is a great friend and supporter of Agricultural Education and the FFA,” he emphasized.

Senator Hembree was instrumental in securing state appropriations for significant improvements to the State FFA Leadership Center near North Myrtle Beach. He was a great supporter of state legislation to establish the SC Farm Aid Fund to provide assistance to farmers devastated by the severe floods of 2015. He has also played a major role in the passage of legislation in support of Clemson University, the SC Department of Agriculture, the State Forestry Commission and the SC Department of Natural Resources.

After graduating for the University of Memphis in 1982, Senator Hembree received his Juris Doctor degree from the University of South Carolina in 1985. He has served as the city attorney for North Myrtle Beach and the 15th Circuit Solicitor for Horry and Georgetown Counties. He is a practicing attorney with the firm of Monckton, Hembree, and Humphries in Myrtle Beach.

“A recipient of the Honorary FFA Chapter Degree from the Green Sea-Floyds FFA Chapter and the Honorary State FFA Degree from the SC FFA Association, Senator Hembree will be awarded the Honorary American FFA Degree by the 600,000 member National FFA Organization in October,” Mr. Earle said.

Senator Hembree and his wife, Renee, have three children, Nora Taylor, Ellen Hall, and John Isaac.

The John W. Parris Agricultural Leadership Award is the most esteemed recognition presented by the South Carolina Association of Agricultural Educators. This award was established several years ago by the association and named in honor of Mr. Parris of Columbia, SC, a nationally recognized leader in Agriculture and Natural Resource Conservation with more than 50 years of professional service.
Jay Copelan began his career in agricultural education as an FFA member at Habersham Central High School in Mount Airy, Georgia under the leadership of FFA advisor Mr. Danny Brooks. Jay was an active member of his FFA Chapter, competing on the Soils, Public Speaking, and Livestock Judging teams. He was also a young leader, serving as the FFA chapter vice president during his senior year.

Upon graduating Clemson University with a BS in Agricultural Education, he accepted a job in Glynn County, Georgia as an extension agent. He worked there for two years before realizing that he was better suited for the classroom. Copelan then accepted a teaching position at Crescent High School in Iva, South Carolina where he taught for thirteen years. After serving the Crescent chapter extensively, he decided to take a position at Anderson V Career Center. He taught there for seventeen years until his recent retirement. During his teaching career, he coached seven CDE state champion teams, advised three FFA state officers, assisted eighteen American Degree applicants, had approximately sixty state FFA degree recipients, and had twenty proficiency award winners. As a Young Farmer advisor, he led one national president and two state presidents, was awarded Advisor of the Year in 2016, served as the Executive Secretary from 1995-1997, hosted two summer tours, attended seven NYFEA conventions, and had multiple regional and state winners in the SCYFAA Awards Program.

Jay has been married to his lovely wife, Kelly, for twenty-eight blessed years. They have three children: Jared, Anna, and JP. His retirement plans are to expand his 50 acre beef and hay farm, travel more with his family, and assist Kelly with “whatever she needs, because she has been by [his] side [his] entire career.” He and his family are active members of Varennes Heights Baptist Church where he serves as a Deacon, Sunday School Superintendent, and is heavily involved in the Men’s Ministry Team. He is now working part time at Specialized Turf Equipment Company (STEC) in Anderson.

Cleveland Jackson began his career in agricultural education as an FFA Advisor and Agricultural Educator in Union County, South Carolina. In addition to being a farmer and landscape company owner, Mr. Jackson served the Union County School District for 47 years of his career. When Cleveland began his teaching career in 1969, he only taught male students as females were not allowed in Agriculture Education classes at this time. Over the years Mr. Jackson has had the opportunity to teach a large number of students. He said “Ninth graders are my favorite. Then you can teach them for their tenth grade, eleventh grade, and twelfth grade years and make a big impact on their lives.”

When asked what was the biggest challenge he faced during his long devoted career he answered with this “Working under 24 different administrators”. Mr. Jackson believes the key to being a good Agriculture Education teacher and FFA Advisor is to work with the students and the community and show that you care about them. His passion for agriculture helped to give him the drive and determination to spend countless hours working at the school garden, community garden, and in the greenhouse day after day.

Since Mr. Jackson has retired he is now actively working both his farm and landscape business as well as expanding the community garden that he started with his students as a class project. In 2010, his FFA chapter at Union County High School was recognized for being the first chapter in the state of South Carolina to create and invest in a community garden. Mr. Jackson is now sending vegetables from the community garden to Microsoft once a week. In addition, Mr. Jackson is working with fifth, sixth, and seventh graders from the county every Saturday in the community garden. He is teaching them about the soil, planting, harvesting, and marketing the end products.

Mr. Jackson holds a special place in the heart of many residents of Union County. He has had a long teaching career of 47 years and has had the opportunity to positively impact the lives of many.
Bill Parker

Bill Parker began his career in agricultural education as an FFA member at Blacksburg High School. His FFA Advisors were Mr. Calvin Robertson, Mr. Monte Crisp, and Mr. Fred Wilkins. He served as the chapter Sentinel for two years and also Chapter Vice President. As a student, he competed in Soil Judging and Livestock Judging, in which he and his teammates were regional winners numerous times; he was also the high individual scorer.

Upon graduating Clemson University with a BS in Agricultural Education, Mr. Parker began teaching at his alma mater where he remained for his 34 year career. He taught in the same classroom in which he sat as a student. During his career, he had several FFA proficiency award winners, eighty State FFA Degree recipients, one Region Star in Agribusiness, one State Star Farmer, and was named the Outstanding Region Young Farmer Chapter. Mr. Parker has twice been named the Teacher of the Year for Blacksburg High School, once in 1988 and again in 2012. He has been awarded the Honorary American FFA Degree and the South Carolina Honorary State FFA Degree.

His retirement plans are to get back into farming on the land where he grew up and to “get through [his] daughter’s wedding and possibly deal with grandchildren one of these years, the Lord willing.” His daughter, Jessica, will be graduating in American Sign Language and Interpretation from Clemson University. She is marrying Tyler Moss, another of his former students.

Mr. Parker has a new part time job at the Blacksburg Welcome Center and is heavily involved in his church, West End Baptist Church in Gaffney, SC. He has served as the Chairman of Deacons and the Chairman of Finance this past church year. He is also a Sunday School teacher, member of the Praise Team, and part of a mission team that provides meals and services for the Harbor of Hope homeless shelter in Gaffney.
