Research Administrator Round Table ...What Keeps You Awake at Night?

This round table provides an opportunity to discuss amongst your ACC peers what keeps you awake at night and share lessons learned. Topics may include:

- Uniform Guidance – Where are we now?
- Effort Reporting – Who has made changes to their systems? Who is validating committed effort vs worked effort?
- Audit Experiences – Post Uniform Guidance
- FLSA and your institution

Speakers:

Carrie Hurney

Carrie is a Senior Director in Huron Consulting Group's Education and Life Sciences Division and has served as a consultant to the Higher Education industry for 19 years. Carrie is an expert in research administration compliance and cost recovery, with a particular emphasis on indirect (F&A) cost rates, fringe benefit rates and service center rates. Her clients include over 75 various universities, academic medical centers and hospitals. She graduated from the University of Michigan with a Bachelor's of Business Administration and concentration in Accounting.

Beverley Leeper

Beverly came to work for the Controller's Office in 2007 and in 2012 assumed the responsibilities of the Cost Manager. In this role she is responsible for preparation of the University's F&A rate, pooled fringe calculation, UBIT return, and review of billing rates. Prior to that, she served as a fiscal analyst and information resource consultant in Sponsored Program Accounting from 2001-2007 where she assisted in developing an electronic effort reporting system in addition to project set up and management.

Beverly received her Bachelor of Science and Business Administration with a major in Accounting from the University of Richmond in 1993, and worked in accounting and internal audit in the private sector before coming to Clemson.
