CALL for ABSTRACTS!!

Abstract deadline: January 24, 2020

4TH ANNUAL HARRIET & JERRY DEMPSEY RESEARCH CONFERENCE

March 27, 2020  8:00 am – 3:30 pm
Greenville Memorial Hospital
Organized by Clemson University and Prisma Health

CONFIRMED SPEAKERS
Rob Gourdie, PhD, Virginia Tech; Deon Bezuidenhout, PhD, Cape Town; Sanjay Mehrotra, PhD, Northwestern; Ayse Gurses, PhD, Johns Hopkins

OVERALL PURPOSE OF THE CONFERENCE
The Dempsey Research Conference is organized by Dempsey Professors Dan Simionescu and Kevin Taaffe and aims to build bridges between clinical practice and engineering research. The conference gathers researchers, clinicians and engineers from all fields of health sciences, clinical research, and engineering, with a particular focus on highlighting applications in bioengineering and industrial engineering. The conference includes keynote lectures by prestigious invited speakers in the morning session and presentation of selected abstracts in the afternoon session. Lunch is provided and there is no registration charge.

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS
Abstracts will be considered for podium presentations and posters with special emphasis on interdisciplinary health research including PRISMA Health / Clemson University collaborations. The conference committee will select the Best Oral and Poster presentations and will offer Awards at the end of the afternoon session. Students, junior faculty and residents are highly encouraged to participate.

Abstract Guidelines: Abstracts should be no longer than (approximately) 750 words or one page of text, including figures (if any). The title should be followed by the author listing, which should include full first and last names and affiliations of all authors. The abstract should clearly describe the nature of the research and be presented in such language as to be understood by scientists, engineers and clinicians. The abstract should clearly identify the objectives of the research, the methodology employed, the results, and the conclusions. Email all abstracts in pdf format to Dr Dan Simionescu at: dsimion@clemson.edu before the due date. Notification of abstract selection will be made no later than February 7, 2020.