

Faculty Bio

Ken Noriega

knoriegacvm@gmail.com

Education:

Bachelor of Arts in Biology, Pitzer College, Claremont, CA

Master of Science in Biology, Department of Biology, California State University, San Bernardino

Areas of Expertise:

Gross Anatomy

Embryology

Select Publications:

Khamas, W., Rutllant, J., Noriega, K. Skeletal System. In: Anatomy and Histology of the Domestic Chicken. Khamas and Rutllant (Eds.). Pp. 19-33. John Wiley & Sons.

Noriega, K., Marino, T., Khamas, W. Muscular System. In: Anatomy and Histology of the Domestic Chicken. Khamas and Rutllant (Eds.). Pp. 35-47. John Wiley & Sons.

Rega, E., Noriega K., Sumida, S., Huttenlocker, A., Lee, A., Kennedy, B. Healed Fractures in the Neural Spines of an Associated Skeleton of Dimetrodon: Implications for Dorsal Sail Morphology and Function. Fieldiana Life and Earth Sciences, The Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago. 2012. Vol. 5 Ch. 9 pg.(s) 104-111

Select Honors and Awards:

Awarded with the Zoetis Distinguished Teaching Award at Western University, College of Veterinary Medicine, 2023

Nominated for the Zoetis Distinguished Teaching Award at Western University, College of Veterinary Medicine, 2019

SCAVMA Faculty of the Year Award, Western University, College of Veterinary Medicine, 2017

Community Service:

Western University Health Careers Ladder – Veterinary Medicine Track.

Western University, College of Veterinary Medicine, Summer Enrichment Camp.